Distinguished Service Award To Beaver

GORDON BEAVER, music teacher in the public schools, receives a distinguished service plaque from Mayor Kendall Sikes, right.

Harper, Myers Also Honored

By Dan Whittle
Gordon Beaver, public school music teacher, is the winner of the annual distinguished service award of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

J. E. Harper, manager of McKnight-Keaton Grocery Company, is the boss of the year, and Peter Myers of Canolou, is the outstanding young farmer.

A mobile unit has been purchased and Dr. Wayne Neaville has been employed as dentist. He is a graduate of the University of Tennessee Dental School in Memphis. He and his wife, Suzette, and son, Greg, two, moved to 124 West Kathleen St., in Sikeston from their home in Benton, Ark.

The program is a cooperative effort between the eight school districts in the county and the county health department.

Under the federal elementary and secondary education act, the district will receive $1.50 per enrolled student for federal funds for dental care of the children.

The services will include an examination of each pupil to determine his dental needs. Children of families not financially able to afford needed dental work will receive it free from the county dentist if passed by the county eligibility board. Examinations are expected to begin this month.

The cost of the mobile unit will be $12,000, of which all but $800 to $1,000, will be paid by the federal government.

Dental examinations will open in the Morehouse public schools Thursday. The program will run through the summer.

The county health department hopes to continue the program on a permanent basis.

Dental Care Approved in New Madrid

NEW MADRID -- The New Madrid County School Superintendents Association and David Townsend, administrator of the New Madrid county health department, disclosed today that plans had been approved for a dental program for county school students. It will permit examination and treatment of public and parochial school students of needy families.

Beatle Haircuts Taboo

Roger Sherman, principal, said that "The beatle type haircut is unacceptable."

Charles Blanton, Jr., publisher of The Daily Standard, received a letter today from students of the high school complaining that a school administrator also had set a standard both for the length of hair and style of combing. They complained that combing hair down the forehead ran afoul of school regulations.

Sherman said that he knew of no administrator who is doing this.

"We are asking no more than other schools" he said. "We don't care about the length of hair but we do want it combed."

The letter to Blanton said that students already have been expelled for failing to conform.

Sherman denied it.

"We have expelled no one," he said.

Three Street Names Changed by Council

At a special City Council meeting yesterday three street names were changed.

Lincoln Street was changed to Adams from Kiwanis Avenue to 450 feet east of Jaycee Avenue.

Washington Street was changed to Adams Street from Kiwanis Avenue to Welter Street.

Allen Street was changed to Ford Street from Alabama to Sunset drive.

The council authorized the execution of a deed for the 13 acres of land where the mental health center will be located.

Eddie Schrader, commissioner of the Okeechobee Boy Scout district, asked the council for permission to let Scouts act as city officials during Boy Scout week Feb. 6 - 12.

He was told to make a list of names and prepare a plan to be submitted at next month's council meeting.

Quake Probe in Bootheel

ST. LOUIS -- Three Washington University scientists will launch a geophysical study of Southeast Missouri in the hope of locating and mapping the crustal fault zone along which earthquakes have occurred.

The National Science Foundation has granted Washington University $31,800 to help finance it.

In the continental United States, the Southeast Missouri area has been second only to the west coast in frequency and severity of earth tremors. Geologists have mapped the fault zone which gives rise to the coastal earthquakes, but the exact nature of the midwestern fault zone remains a mystery.

Principal investigators of Washington University's new effort to solve this riddle will be Dr. Emil Mateker, Jr., assistant professor of geophysics, Dr. LeRoy Scharon, professor of geophysics, and Dr. Norman S. Hinchey, associate professor of geology.

In their studies they will use sensitive instruments to detect changes in magnetic properties and density changes in the basement complex of rocks throughout Southeast Missouri and portions of Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas.

Geologists have speculated that earthquake activity in this area may be due to an active weak zone in the rock basement between the Ozark Mountains and the Mississippi River valley. But there is insufficient information to substantiate this.

More detailed geomagnetic and gravity measurements may define a regional fault trend, Professor Mateker said. In addition to giving an answer to the cause of earthquakes, such geophysical maps might be of value in further exploration and exploitation of the region's mineral wealth, he added.

The major earthquakes in Southeast Missouri, Professor Mateker pointed out, occurred in 1811 and 1812 and caused great damage.

These earthquakes seemed to be focused near New Madrid, and for that reason, there had been common reference to a "New Madrid Fault" as the underlying cause, although no such fault has ever been defined.

The 1811 and 1812 earthquakes were of an intensity of ten or greater. With an intensity of ten, serious damage occurs to major structures such as dams, embankments, masonry and

Jones Renews His Fight on Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Paul C. Jones has renewed his battle to remove "fraud and deception" from the official Congressional Record.

He thinks the record should be an accurate account of the proceeding and debates in Congress rather than what he calls "a dumping ground for trash, tripe and trivia."

The fiery 64-year-old Missouri Democrat serving his 18th consecutive year in the House asked colleagues again this week to help him "restore the accuracy and dignity which once prevailed in the preparation of this official publication of worldwide distribution."

But he admitted failure in past campaigns and said "I have little reason to believe that I will be any more successful today."

Jones' position is that extraneous matter should not clutter

up the body of the record as distinguished from the appendix. Just about anything can — and usually does — get printed in the appendix.

It's the body of the record that Jones wants purified.

Existing rules allow a member to have printed in the body of the record just about anything, provided there is no objection. A member can speak for five seconds on the floor and turn in for publication the balance of a long-winded speech, along with extraneous supporting data. The record would indicate the entire speech was delivered. An absent member can have a colleague put the speech in the record for him.

If Jones has his way, members could sound off as long as they wanted but only the words actually spoken would be published in the body of the record.

School Board Post Sought

Lee Austin Bowman, 42, is a candidate for the R-6 school board, at an election April 5.

Bowman is a graduate of Sikeston high school, attended Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, Va., two years, and graduated from the University of Missouri, with a bachelor of arts degree, after receiving a football scholarship.

He is past president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce; past president of the state Junior Chamber of Commerce; past president of the Lions Club, and the Community Chest, and a past board member of the Chamber of Commerce.

He served as an air force pilot in World War II; is past president of University of Missouri athletic committee, and a former director of the University of Missouri Alumni Association; and a member of the board of the First Methodist church.

He is married and the father of two sons and two daughters.

The boss' award was made for the first time last night, Jim Foster, 717 Mimosa, was the last recipient of the farmer award.

Cars Crash in Passing Accident

At 2:40 p.m. Tuesday on route 2, two miles southeast of East Prairie, Cecil Hammon, 27, East Prairie, driving a 1965 Chevrolet, started to make a left turn, when he was struck by a 1961 GMC truck, driven by Johnny Hall, 18, Charleston, who was attempting to pass Hammon.

The accident occurred on a two-lane highway. The Chevrolet was traveling eastbound and the GMC truck was traveling westbound.

The GMC truck was traveling at approximately 40 miles per hour when it struck the Chevrolet.

Higher Interest On U.S. Bonds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government soon will hike interest rates on U.S. savings bonds to the maximum allowable 4 1/4 per cent but will not ask congressional approval to go beyond that, sources indicated today.

The government now pays 3 1/2 per cent interest on the $49 billion outstanding in series "E" and "H" bonds.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler announced Tuesday that President Johnson had ordered the interest boost to "the earliest possible date."

Fowler said the higher rates will help maintain the bond sales.

Indians Elect Mrs. Gandhi

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Mrs. Indira Gandhi, daughter of the late Jawaharlal Nehru, was elected today to be India's next prime minister, the first woman in modern times to head the government of a major nation.

India's ruling Congress party automatically elevated Mrs. Gandhi to prime minister by electing her leader of its majority faction in Parliament.

Thus on the shoulders of this 48-year-old widow fell the immense problems of India with which her father had wrestled for 17 years until his death in 1964 and which his successor, Lal Bahadur Shastri, had attacked vigorously until a heart attack killed him Jan. 11.

Mrs. Gandhi went to her victory wearing a red rosebud pinned to her shawl, just as her father wore a red rose daily throughout the tumultuous years after independence in 1947.

The novelist was suffering from a circulatory ailment and fell into a coma a week ago. She died Tuesday at the Pacific Heights home of her son, Dr. Frank Norris, with her family gathered around her.

Her first novel, "Mother," was published in 1911. Former President Theodore Roosevelt was so moved by it that he climbed three flights of stairs to the Norris apartment just to shake the author's hand.

From that year until her last novel, "Through a Glass Darkly," she produced nearly two books a year, 58 magazine serials and uncounted newspaper and magazine articles.

A critic once wrote that her novels "poured from her typewriter as sawdust pours from a sawmill."

Her late husband, Charles G. Norris, also a successful and prolific writer, marveled at his wife's ability to sit down and write anywhere at any time.

"We would come home from the opera," he once recalled, "and Kathleen would take off her cloak and earrings, sit down and type for ten minutes."

The critics respected her craftsmanship but regarded her as an "incurable romanticist" and refused to take her seriously.

"But then," she was often heard saying, "I never took them very seriously either."

Her stories all had happy endings. Three generations of admiring Americans considered her infinitely wise in affairs of the heart. The plots of many of her novels concerned the struggles of a family to sustain love and achieve happiness.

She was the daughter of a San Francisco banker of modest means, James Alden Thompson. When Kathleen was 19 her parents died and, as the eldest child, she was left to care for her two sisters and three brothers.

To care for her brothers and sisters, she worked as a bookkeeper, a librarian, a society editor and finally as a reporter for the San Francisco Call. She covered the 1906 earthquake for that paper.

In 1909 she met Charles Norris and married him. Charles' brother, Frank Norris, also was a writer.

When Charles and Kathleen returned to California from New York in the 1920s Mrs. Norris was said to be the highest-paid woman writer in the world.

Her husband died in 1945.

Novelist Kathleen Norris Dies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Kathleen Norris, one of America's most popular women writers, has died at 85 after writing nearly 100 novels for "people with simple needs and motives."

"I have no knowledge of the dark forces which fascinate modern writers," said Mrs. Norris, reminiscing about her prolific writings recently.

Control Commission which was given the job by the 1954 and 1962 Geneva conferences. The South Vietnamese army should have ultimate responsibility, these officials feel.

It is doubtful that the suggestions set forth by these U.S. officials would be acceptable to the Communist side under any conditions short of impending defeat in the field or severe internal stresses.

The feeling here is that unless Peking, Hanoi and the Viet Cong realize that the United States and its allies not only have the power to win but are willing to use that power come what may, peace will be long delayed.

Another suggestion was to set a tight time limit for peace talks so they would not drag on endlessly while the Communists continued to put on pressure in the countryside, where they now have a better grip than the South Vietnamese government.

Some top U.S. planners in Viet Nam also warn against entrusting ultimate supervision of the peace to the International Beaver, after getting to the meeting, thought that Norton had been selected to receive the award. That the contact with him was an excuse to get Norton away from the meeting.

Beaver, 34, 417 Clayton, was presented the service award by Mayor Kendall Sikes.

Dr. Bill Dillon presented the boss award.

Tony Heckemeyer, representative from Scott County, presented the farmer award. Sikes elaborated on some of Beaver's service and contributions before giving him a plaque.

"Gordon, in addition to his regular school duties has devoted time to many special music groups, including the community choir, the modern chorale, boys and girls ensembles and others," Sikes said.

"He has taken groups all over the state to make appearances before audiences ranging from music teachers to worldwide radio listeners."

"He is a director in the Delta Community Concert association. He and his wife provided the entire music accompaniment for the Sikeston Little Theater's recent production of 'The Sound of Music.'"

Myers has been farming for 10 years in the Canolot community. He farms 1,100 acres of land.

He also received a plaque. Harper was honored because of the company time and facilities donated to the Jaycees. He received a certificate.

Dillon said that Harper always urged company Jaycee members to "go all out" for Jaycee projects.

His company has had at least one man in Jaycees for 10 years. Speaker was Rick Kern, director of group sales for the baseball St. Louis Cardinals.

Earl Jarvis, 18 Green Meadows, was made an honorary Jaycee. He was co-chairman with Dr. Wendell Weathers, last year's distinguished service award recipient, in the campaign to raise funds for the Jaycee supported mental health clinic site.

Two other awards were given. The Daily Standard was honored for its service to the community. A service award also was given to the local radio station.

The boss' award was made for the first time last night. Jim Doster, 717 Mimosa, was the last recipient of the farmer award.

Dental Care Approved in New Madrid

NEW MADRID -- The New Madrid County School Superintendents association and David Townsend, administrator of the New Madrid county health department, disclosed today that plans had been approved for a dental program for county school students. It will permit examination and treatment of public and parochial school students of needy families.

A mobile unit has been purchased and Dr. Wayne Neaville has been employed as dentist. He is a graduate of the University of Tennessee Dental School in Memphis. He and his wife, Suzanne, and son, Greg, two, moved to 124 West Kathleen St., in Sikeston from their home in Benton, Ark.

The program is a cooperative effort between the eight school districts in the county and the county health department.

Under the federal elementary and secondary education act, the district will receive $1.50 per enrolled student for dental care of the children.

The services will include an examination of each pupil to determine his dental needs. Children of families not financially able to afford needed dental work will receive it free from the county dentist if passed by the county eligibility board. Examinations are expected to begin this month.

The cost of the mobile unit will be $12,000, of which all but $800 to $1,000, will be paid by the federal government.

Dental examinations will open in the Morehouse public schools Thursday. The program will run through the summer.

The county health department hopes to continue the program on a permanent basis.

Beatle Haircuts Taboo

Roger Sherman, principal, said that "The beatle type haircut is unacceptable."

Charles Blanton, Jr., publisher of The Daily Standard, received a letter today from students of the high school complaining that a school administrator also had set a standard both for the length of hair and style of combing.

They complained that combing hair down the forehead ran afoul of school regulations.

Sherman said that he knew of no administrator who is doing this.

The letter to Blanton said that students already have been expelled for failing to conform.

Sherman denied it.

"We have expelled no one," he said.

$170 Stolen From Store

Police Lt. James "Bud" Stone reported today that $170 in cash was stolen last night from the Harwell Auto Parts Company, 102 North Kingshighway.

Stone said entry was made through the back door by prying open a lock.

A bank bag that contained $154 was taken from a desk drawer. Fifteen dollars were taken from the register and $1 from a stamp money box.

Stone said all drawers and files were pilfered.

A check is being made but so far no merchandise is reported missing.

Indians Elect Mrs. Gandhi

NEW DELHI, India (AP) -- Mrs. Indira Gandhi, daughter of the late Jawaharlal Nehru, was elected today to be India's next prime minister, the first woman in modern times to head the government of a major nation.

India's ruling Congress party automatically elevated Mrs. Gandhi to prime minister by electing her leader of its majority faction in Parliament.

Thus on the shoulders of this 48-year-old widow fell the immense problems of India with which her father had wrestled for 17 years until his death in 1964 and which his successor, Lal Bahadur Shastri, had attacked vigorously until a heart attack killed him Jan. 11.

Mrs. Gandhi went to her victory wearing a red rosebud pinned to her shawl, just as her father wore a red rose daily throughout the tumultuous years after independence in 1947.

Three Street Names Changed by Council

At a special City Council meeting yesterday three street names were changed.

Lincoln Street was changed to Adams Street from Kiwanis Avenue to 450 feet east of Jaycee Avenue.

Washington Street was changed to Adams Street from Kiwanis Avenue to Welter street.

Allen Street was changed to Ford Street from Alabama to Sunset drive.

The council authorized the execution of a deed for the 13 acres of land where the mental health center will be located.

Eddie Schrader, commissioner of the Okeechobee Boy Scout district, asked the council for permission to let Scouts act as city officials during Boy Scout week Feb. 6 - 12.

He was told to make a list of names and prepare a plan to be submitted at next month's council meeting.

An alley, adjacent to Hart's Bakery property, Kendall Street, was ordered vacated west for 134 feet. The alley is in block four, McCoy and Tanner First Addition.

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) -- The clock brought the Viet Cong tonight into their self-proclaimed four-day truce for the lunar new year after they had staged a series of attacks, the bloodiest at a camp for 2,000 Vietnamese refugees.

American armed forces remained on full alert. It was still unclear whether the Communist truce offer—advertised as effective at 11 p.m. 9 a.m. CST—covered U.S. and other Allied troops.

Thirty-three persons were killed and 54 wounded as the guerrillas swept down before dawn on the sleeping camp on the outskirts of Tam Ky, a provincial capital 350 miles north-east of Saigon. Many of the victims were women and children.

U.S. advisers said the raiders set fire to thatched huts, excuted whole families on the spot, mangled the bodies and kidnapped nine men. They left behind leaflets denouncing U.S. operations as a "dirty war of aggression against the people of Viet Nam."

As to the Viet Cong ceasefire, one intelligence source said hard information had been received that American GIs would not be included.

As in the case of the Christmas truce, the Saigon government and its American and other allies have ordered a ceasefire of their own. But it is to run for only 78 hours instead of the 96 hours set by the Viet Cong.

The Allied ceasefire is to go into effect at noon Thursday and end at 6 p.m. Sunday.

A U.S. spokesman said American military operations already under way will continue until noon Thursday.

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has appointed Fred Neal, Democrat of near Kennett, presiding judge of the Dunklin County court, succeeding Virgil A. O'Connor, resigned.

Neal has been judge of the Second District. Succeeding him in that job will be John Scott, Senath Democrat.

W. D. Carney, highway department district 10 engineer, announced today that his office will make an inventory of outdoor advertising signs, displays and devices, and of junkyards. The check will be made during January and February in all counties and towns in the district.

This work will consist of examining all signs and junkyards, including those in industrial areas, which are visible from the Interstate routes, when the signs are 660 feet and the junkyards are within 1,000 feet.

ST. LOUIS -- Three Washington University scientists will launch a geophysical study of Southeast Missouri in the hope of locating and mapping the crustal fault zone along which earthquakes have occurred.

The National Science Foundation has granted Washington University $31,800 to help finance it.

In the continental United States, the Southeast Missouri area has been second only to the west coast in frequency and severity of earth tremors. Geologists have mapped the fault zone which gives rise to the coastal earthquakes, but the exact nature of the midwestern fault zone remains a mystery.

Principal investigators of Washington University's new effort to solve this riddle will be Dr. Emil Mateker, Jr., assistant professor of geophysics, Dr. LeRoy Scharon, professor of geophysics, and Dr. Norman S. Hinchey, associate professor of geology.

In their studies they will use sensitive instruments to detect changes in magnetic properties and density changes in the basement complex of rocks throughout Southeast Missouri and portions of Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas.

Geologists have speculated that earthquake activity in this area may be due to an active weak zone in the rock basement between the Ozark Mountains and the Mississippi River valley. But there is insufficient information to substantiate this.

More detailed geomagnetic and gravity measurements may define a regional fault trend, Professor Mateker said. In addition to giving an answer to the cause of earthquakes, such geophysical maps might be of value in further exploration and exploitation of the region's mineral wealth, he added.

The major earthquakes in Southeast Missouri, Professor Mateker pointed out, occurred in 1811 and 1812 and caused great damage.

These earthquakes seemed to be focused near New Madrid, and for that reason, there had been common reference to a "New Madrid Fault" as the underlying cause, although no such fault has ever been defined.

The 1811 and 1812 earthquakes were of an intensity of ten or greater. With an intensity of ten, serious damage occurs to major structures such as dams, embankments, masonry and

Control Commission which was given the job by the 1954 and 1962 Geneva conferences. The South Vietnamese army should have ultimate responsibility, these officials feel.

It is doubtful that the suggestions set forth by these U.S. officials would be acceptable to the Communist side under any conditions short of impending defeat in the field or severe internal stresses.

The feeling here is that unless Peking, Hanoi and the Viet Cong realize that the United States and its allies not only have the power to win but are willing to use that power come what may, peace will be long delayed.

Planners Say U.S. Must Step Up War

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) -- High-level U.S. planners in Viet Nam say the United States and South Viet Nam must step up the war, not de-escalate it, if the Communists are to be brought to the conference table and a favorable peace worked out, highly reliable sources reported today.

Top-level thinking is that in the unlikely event Hanoi and the Viet Cong ask for an armistice, Allied pressure should be stepped up rather than eased.

The bombings against North Viet Nam should be resumed and intensified, it is argued. Fighting should not end before the conclusion of peace talks.

These views, which appear at variance with President Johnson's current peace offensive, have been transmitted to Washington. What response has been made, if any, is not known.

The messages to Washington stressed that any peace could easily be lost unless the peace agreement contains ironclad guarantees that can and would be enforced. Otherwise, the American planners say, a Communist take-over is clearly possible.

Other warnings to Washington include a suggestion that no peace treaty be sought that would force North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh to admit defeat, even by implication.

This, top planners feel, could result in Ho's overthrow by a more aggressive, more Peking-oriented faction which would renew the war.

It is understood that some planners have urged the Johnson administration to draw up a politically realistic list of objectives expected from any peace conference.

Another suggestion was to set a tight time limit for peace talks so they would not drag on endlessly while the Communists continued to put on pressure in the countryside, where now have a better grip than the South Vietnamese government.

Some top U.S. planners in Viet Nam also warn against entrusting ultimate supervision of the peace to the International

Jones Renews His Fight on Record

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Rep. Paul C. Jones has renewed his battle to remove "fraud and deception" from the official Congressional Record.

He thinks the record should be an accurate account of the proceeding and debates in Congress rather than what he calls "a dumping ground for trash, tripe and trivia."

The fiery 64-year-old Missouri Democrat serving his 18th consecutive year in the House asked colleagues again this week to help him "restore the accuracy and dignity which once prevailed in the preparation of this official publication of worldwide distribution."

But he admitted failure in past campaigns and said "I have little reason to believe that I will be any more successful today."

Jones' position is that extraneous matter should not clutter

up the body of the record as distinguished from the appendix. Just about anything can—and usually does—get printed in the appendix.

It's the body of the record that Jones wants purified.

Existing rules allow a member to have printed in the body of the record just about anything, provided there is no objection. A member can speak for five seconds on the floor and turn in for publication the balance of a long-winded speech, along with extraneous supporting data. The record would indicate the entire speech was delivered. An absent member can have a colleague put the speech in the record for him.

If Jones has his way, members could sound off as long as they wanted but only the words actually spoken would be published in the body of the record.

County Extension Councils Members Being Picked

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Wednesday, January 19, 1892, Germany - The first recorded history: Bismark sings "Monkey Doodles" accompanied by the "Hot Five" of Dusseldorf.

Friday's election will go down in the history books as one in which Missourians weren't much interested.

It does refute one theory--that when the vote is light those who are against ballot proposals always prevail.

It didn't work out that way Friday and this is a source of satisfaction.

Two of the constitutional amendments will cost the taxpayers' money.

One is the first step toward giving municipal and county employees pensions. The other raises the school levy ceiling from $1 to $1.25 per $100 of assessed valuation, which can be levied in cities and towns outside St. Louis without a two thirds majority vote by the people.

The levy is much higher than that in most communities so there can be no argument that imprudent, higher taxation was made easier.

But it was especially commendable that Missourians took the time--at least those few who went to the polls did--to inform themselves about the constitutional amendment to amend the state house of representatives.

Rural Missourians might easily have concluded that they would lose power in the legislature, which they will, by the redistricting plan advocated by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

In voting in favor of the plan, citizens went beyond this superficial fact.

They discovered that there was no longer a question whether there would be redistricting but it was now a matter of how best to do it.

The courts already have decided affirmatively the issue of whether it will be done.

A majority of those few citizens who went to the polls wisely concluded that it would be better for a bipartisan commission, nominated by the major political parties, and appointed by the governor, to redistrict the house than to leave the problem to the courts.

At the worst, if the matter had been left to the courts, Missourians might have been forced to vote for all house members running at large. That not only would have been a mess but virtually no legislators probably would have been chosen in the process to represent the state's rural interests.

Southeast Missouri once more supported the policies of Governor Hearnes.

It is unfortunate that so few voted but it is much better for an informed few to vote than for a mass turnout of the uninformed at the polls.

Jack Hogan says: "When it comes to arguing about money, women prefer and admire a good loser."

Ever get those "Freeway Blues" when you don't know how to get off the freeway, you missed a sign, you're in the wrong lane and you're ready to stop right there and cry?

A new freeway blue is being tried out as a way to end the problems of motorists who like freeways but don't know how the heck -- or when -- to get off of them.

Two states are trying out blue signs and lane markings -- blue, because this color hasn't been used much on highways -- to show the motorist where exit ramps are. Michigan has been testing a combination of blue signs marking exit ramps, along with blue reflectorized road-edge markings and delineators. At the test intersection, all a motorists has to do is "go with blue" and he's on the exit ramp.

Before-and-after studies have shown that there's a considerable reduction in erratic driving and that 83 per cent of the drivers approve of the system.

The blue color is also used for food, lodging, gas and rest-area signs and highway markings on the interstate highway test program.

A similar test is being made in Los Angeles on the ramps of that state's famous freeway system. Apparently, the system is working out very well and stands a good chance of being adopted on a national basis.

This would be a real blessing for the motorist who, in day or night, has little time to pick-and-choose and hunt exits while traveling at up to 80 mph on interstate expressways and toll-roads.

The cinchona tree, from which the drug quinine is derived, is a member of the madder family. Its flowers are rose, purple or yellow, and look like lilac blossoms.

TIGHT MONEY AND MARTIN

PRESIDENT JOHNSON very shortly will have to make a choice that should prove a test of the depth of his New Deal neo-Populist principles. By the end of the month he must replace C. Canby Balderston, vice chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who, having served a full 14-year term as a board member, is not eligible for reappointment.

Balderston is a hard money man. He voted with the majority of the board in the 4-to-3 decision announced Dec. 5 to raise the rediscount rate from 4 per cent to 4 1/2 per cent. Ostensibly a brake on inflation, the increase angered President Johnson, whose entire political life has been attuned to the easy money traditions of the Democratic party.

But if the President should appoint an easy money man to replace Balderston, then William McChesney Martin, Jr., chairman of the Fed since 1951, might well resign from the chair--if not the Board--as he has said he would do if he ever found himself consistently in the minority. Martin is viewed by the business community as a symbol of sound economic policy. When asked recently what he would do if Johnson appointed a doctrinaire liberal to the board, Chairman Martin replied: "I'll cross that bridge when I come to it."

THE FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM by tradition is supposed to be independent of the White House and of political pressures. Board members are appointed to 14-year terms by the President and confirmed by the Senate, even though the central bank is technically privately owned and privately supported. Members are removable only for cause.

The late Sen. Carter Glass (D Va.), popularly the father of the Federal Reserve system, once quoted President Wilson as declaring: "The very moment I should attempt to establish close relations with the Board, I would be accused of trying to bring political pressure to bear." When President Truman in 1947 failed to reappoint Marriner S. Eccles, a hard money man, as board chairman, the move was widely interpreted as reducing the influence of the chairman in the whole banking community.

Congress established the Federal Reserve in 1913 to "furnish an elastic currency, to afford means of rediscounting commercial paper, to establish a more effective supervision of banking in the United States." The Banking Act of 1935 reaffirmed the independence of the system by removing from the board the Secretary of the Treasury and the Comptroller of the Currency, who theretofore had served as ex officio members.

Rep. Wright Patman (D Texas), chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee and Martin's severest critic, would do away with the board entirely, also the Fed's Open Market Committee. He would replace them with a 12-member committee headed by the Secretary of the Treasury, thus securely reining the Fed to the President.

IRONICALLY, Martin, a nominal Democrat, in early 1951 was the Treasury's chief negotiator--as assistant secretary--in the FRB-Treasury squabble over the Treasury's easy money policy. With the Treasury victory, Martin promptly was named chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

Martin served comfortably through the Eisenhower tight money years and was reappointed by President Kennedy in 1963. He has seemed able to adjust to both hard money and easy money administrations--until now.

O. C. Lewis says: "Wouldn't it be fine if all those who point a finger would hold out a hand instead."

NOTHING HALF-WAY

President Johnson's "state of the union" address Wednesday night leaves no doubt about whether the chief executive favors "guns or butter" for the national economy during the next 12 months.

He wants them both.

He wants Congress to put back excise taxes on new automobiles and telephone calls, a levy that the beleaguered taxpayer only a few days ago bid a happy good-bye to.

He wants Congress to increase the level, but not the total amount, of withholding taxes --so that Uncle Sam gets his tax money faster.

He also wants this faithful session of Congress to continue to support every program that has been launched under the "Great Society" concept--and spend some $11 billion more to support our war effort in South Viet Nam.

We'll say this much for our President--he never stops at half-way measures when he can go all the way.

And there are many in Southeast Missouri who believe that Congress won't do the presidential bidding, just as it did during 1965?

MONUMENT TO MYRT No one will ever forget Myrt, the telephone operator. You just told her who you wanted to talk to, (never mind the number), and she rang the right phone.

Or, if they weren't home, she could usually tell you where they were. She always knew where the fire was and who was sick and if you needed the doctor right away, she'd find him for you, wherever he might be. But Myrt (or maybe it was Nell or Mary or Marge or Jennie) is gone from most communities now. And she'll never be back since, as has been pointed out, the increased dependence of America on the telephone has produced a traffic volume that not all the women in the US could handle with the facilities at Myrt's disposal.

But her spirit survives - in the emphasis on public service that dominates the regrouping

and consolidation of independent telephone companies that is now taking place and in the preservation of competition in our most vital and most widely-used public communications system - that has likewise become our most automated industry.

In a recent address to the New York Society of Security Analysts, Weldon W. Case president of the Mid-Continent Telephone Corporation, noted that while there were 5,500 independent telephone companies in 1950 and 2,800 today, the number of telephones served by the independents has soared from six to nearly 13 million.

Mr. Case predicted an acceleration of this trend in favor of larger economic units such as Mid-Continent, formed in 1960 from five Ohio independents seeking to pool technical, professional and financial strength. Today, the System has grown to eleven operating affiliates serving more than 130,000 telephones and extends

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- It may get a diplomatic denial, but President Johnson has promised British Prime Minister Harold Wilson not to resume the bombing of North Viet Nam until Wilson makes his trip to Moscow Feb. 21-24.

This is the chief reason behind the mysterious bombing lull regarding which all officials -- at the State Department, the Pentagon, the White House, and in Saigon -- are so mum.

Most people have figured the bombing lull was due to the Viet Nam lunar New Year and that attacks on the North would be resumed in late January.

Real fact, however, is that the Prime Minister of England, one of our most steadfast supporters in Southeast Asia, convinced the President that there was a much better chance of this getting the Russians to act as peace - makers if American bombs were not raining down on North Viet Nam at the time Wilson goes to Moscow. He will make a vigorous pitch to get Russian help for peace at that time.

In addition to Prime Minister Wilson, President De Gaulle, President Tito of Yugoslavia, President Nasser of Egypt, the late Premier Shastri of India, and others all urged a let-up in bombing North Viet Nam.

TITO AND HO CHI-MINH

Tito, who has been one of the most vigorous backstage promoters of peace, has argued that there must be a token olive branch from the United States before Ho Chi Minh can be expected to give up a position where, first, he is winning; second, he has the world's sympathy.

Tito, as an independent Communist, sometimes at violent odds with Moscow, and constantly under attack by Peking, is one of the most effective neutral leaders; also is considered a man Ho Chi - Minh would like to emulate.

President Johnson, who is now getting to be something of an expert on Communist politics -- which he didn't understand at all at first -- doesn't expect anything to happen soon from the recent Shelepin mission to Hanoi. He knows that the Chinese Communists have so bitterly attacked the Russians for trying to pull American peace chestnuts out of the Hanoi fire that Shelepin couldn't possibly come back from Hanoi and immediately announce plans for peace talks.

Johnson has also come to understand that there are political wheels within political wheels inside the Communist world, just as there are political wheels within political wheels inside of Texas. It isn't merely Democrats versus Republicans in Texas, it's right wing Texas Democrats against liberal Texas Democrats.

COMMUNIST POLITICS Likewise, in the Communist world there are right and left wing factions inside the Kremlin and two factions inside North Viet Nam.

POLITICAL WHEEL-WITH-IN WHEEL NO. 1 is the Soviet anti-American faction inside the Kremlin which helped out pro-American Khrushchev. Shelepin, the emissary to Hanoi and the new man to watch in the Communist party, is believed leaning somewhat toward the United States. Certainly he has not been anti-American.

Breshnev and Kosygin started out being pro-American. Then he started bombing North Viet Nam and they were placed in a position where publicly they had to be anti-American. Two days before we bombed North Viet Nam, Kosygin had been in Peking where he asked the Chinese to use their influence with Ho Chi-Minh for peace; thus causing the Chinese to attack him as a pawn of the imperialist United States.

POLITICAL WHEEL-WITH-IN-WHEEL NO. 2 is in Hanoi where a pro-Chinese faction competes with a pro-Russian faction.

The United States has been advised by friendly Communists such as Tito, and Premier Gomulka of Poland, to try to strengthen the pro - Russian clique. The Russians, we have been told, are just as anxious to block the spread of Chinese influence in Southeast Asia as we are, though they can't be too open about it.

We have also been reminded that Khrushchev, when in office, helped President Kennedy set up a neutral Laos under Prince Souvanna Phouma. Earlier, central intelligence under Allan Dulles had contrived to oust Phouma as too leftist. Now that he has been restored to power -- with Russian - U. S. help -- he has not only kept his country from going Communist, but has given us tacit permission to stop Communist territory to stop Communist supplies from reaching the Viet Cong.

For years, the Indo-Chinese Peninsula has tried to remain independent of China. Lying just south of China, these smaller countries are like Mexico, determined to be independent of the United States yet anxious to maintain friendly U. S. relations.

These are political factors which John Foster Dulles didn't appreciate when he blocked the 1956 elections provided for under the Geneva Treaty to decide on unity between North and South Viet Nam; and which U. S. military advisers didn't understand when at 2 a.m. Feb. 8, almost one year ago, they urged President Johnson to bomb North Viet Nam.

BUSINESSMAN RUNS FOR GOVERNOR Added to the multilateral Democratic race for governor of Pennsylvania will be Milton J. Shapp, Philadelphia manufacturer of TV antennae and Hi-Fi equipment.

Shapp will enter a Democratic primary, a race already confused by such entries as Joe Barr, the Mayor of Pittsburgh; James Quigley, former Congressman from Gettysburg and more recently Assistant Secretary of HEW; Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, Chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee; and State Sen. Robert Casey of Scranton.

Normally a businessman wouldn't have much chance running for Governor on the Democratic ticket. It's Pennsylvania Republicans who nominate businessmen. However, in a race already cluttered up with politicians, Shapp may have a chance, especially because he has a sizable personal fortune he's willing to throw into the political pot; also because he has won the reputation of being right on various major issues.

Shapp is best known for having suggested the peace corps to President Kennedy during the 1960 election campaign.

More recently he has proposed several issues later advocated by President Johnson -- higher social security benefits, lower interest rates, and more education. In 1963, approximately one year before Johnson became President, Shapp advocated an Appalachia program.

Two weeks ago he stated that the nation could afford both the great society and the war in Viet Nam -- the position taken by the President in his State of the Union message.

Shapp has also come out for free higher education in Pennsylvania, a state whose colleges and universities have the highest tuition of all the fifty states.

Shapp operates five factories employing 1,700 workers. Asked how a big businessman happened to be a Democrat, he replied: "Democrats are for programs that benefit people. When you help people, you improve business. It's that simple."

from Ohio into Pennsylvania and North Carolina. But, despite this rapid expansion in member companies, in territory and in responsibility, Mr. Case has not forgotten Myrt!

In setting forth his company's philosophy in the Harvard Business Review, Mr. Case writes: "People are the most important ingredient in any contemplated acquisition. . . . And he adds: "Even in such an era, electronics cannot do the thinking. It requires people to use them as tools for better service and less costly operations."

Just as it required Myrt (and the thousands of small, independent companies, many of them with equipment that now seems primitive), to build the nation's overwhelming confidence in the indispensable telephone. Its expanding usefulness is a monument to Myrt.

Optimist: A husband going to the marriage bureau to see if his license has expired.

The auto careened wildly through the intersection against the light, bounced off a telegraph pole into two parked cars and then overturned on top of a guardrail, along which it slid for fully 30 feet before toppling slowly off rightside up. The driver, obviously a heavy drinker, wormed his way out of the wrecked vehicle and stood, momentarily sobered, surveying the damage he had wrought. A police car screamed to a stop beside him, and an enraged officer leaped out and confronted the inebriated fellow. "What's going on here?" belted the policeman. "Are you drunk?"

"Of course I'm drunk!" came the reply. "What do you think I am--a stunt driver?"

CAREFUL! YOUR SUPPORTERS ARE SHOWING Many insist on impressing their friends or the public with the idea that the country is in danger of being destroyed by anti-Communists voicing their opinions.

It is difficult to understand how a high decree of loyalty to the nation can be divisive and destructive. The war in South Vietnam, our part in the Dominican Republic's affairs and our continued tolerance of Castro furnishes a greater need than ever before for citizens loyal to the USA. Those who decry extremism could ask themselves the question, "Was the extremism of Sgt. Alvin York in World War I divisive to the nation or did his extreme loyalty beyond the call of duty save the lives of scores of his buddies on Flanders Field?"

The question has arisen as to the intensity of support political parties and candidates can afford to accept. THE WORKER contemplates calling the shots for a vast number of Communist movements. This is a part of its duty to the phobia for which it speaks. So long as the American public has a good degree of sense it should be a liability for any candidate to welcome the support of THE WORKER.

Whenever an organization or thought group endorses or works for the success of a candidate, what has happened is that the group or its members have endorsed the candidate. It does not necessarily follow that the candidate is vouching for the tactics nor the principles of these particular supporters. If the supporters seem unnecessarily rough the candidate is not necessarily rude nor rough. He should be given credit for all his supporters who are opposed to the deadly menaces, communism and crime. H.L.H.

Public Anger Against "Hostage" Strikes Stirs Drive for a Federal Labor Court. Washington, D. C. -- Out at Jackass Flats, Nev., recently, I never did think there was a direct link between the underground labyrinths of that nuclear energy testing site and the New York subways. But there is a connection.

The tie - up is through a Jim Horst, leader of the Transport Workers Union members employed on the mysterious Project Rover. At the same time, the 45-year-old Horst was one of the two-man "second team" which directed the TWU's choke-up transit stoppage.

Mr. Horst is a specialist in strike - threatening. He is the master of the technique of appearing to make a contract agreement, and then pulling an Oliver Twist by slipping out and returning sadly to report to management that his people just must have more or they simply can't be controlled.

Mr. Horst, a TWU International Vice President was the strong, but silent partner, of the duo, which ran the illegal subway strike. He ruffled not a hair nor his voice. Why, then, should it not occur to many here that he might someday take similar action at the sprawling AEC Nevada Test Site at Jackass Flats, 100 miles northwest of Las Vegas.

This is quite a gamble. This Nuclear Rocket Development Station is America's only facility for testing nuclear reactors and engines being wrought in Project Rover - which is creating a nuclear-powered rocket for space flights.

It could happen there -- and anywhere just as it happened in New York. Lots of folks are saying there ought to be a law. The ailing Sen. Smathers of Fla. has actually written a bill which will be introduced about the time labor's friends launch their big push for the Fourteen B repealer.

The Senator, basing much of his proposal on suggestions of the late Bernard Baruch, demands the creation of a special Labor - Management Court. It would function separately from the regular judiciary, but much like it.

There are precedents for such special tribunals. There are tax and customs courts.

Such a "final determination court" is operating smoothly in Norway today. Australia, in effect, has such a system.

The labor court of Sen. Smathers' bill would have its own quarters here in the Capital. Five judges would preside over it. There would be a Supreme Court, a chief justice and a calendar.

The judges would be paid the prevailing salaries. They would return to work though the bargaining would continue under the aegis of the Court. This would go on for 80 days. If the upheaval was not settled, the court then would summon both sides and order the labor-management bargainers and-or their attorneys to proceed with the case as though they were in any other court of law.

The final and binding decision would be handed down. This would have the full force of the authority and dignity of the law of the land. And with teeth.

This could be tough on labor. True, many union chiefs attempted to bring Quill and company to their senses and responsibilities. They failed. But they have a movement.

Inside it they must be their union brother's keeper, because on the outside they are all for one and one for all. After the recent, successful strike, and the premium which defiance won for it, the public lumps them all together.

The public now wants a law. And it may get it.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Wednesday, January 19, 1892, Germany - The first recorded history: Bismark sings "Monkey Doodles" accompanied by the "Hot Five" of Dusseldorf.

Friday's election will go down in the history books as one in which Missourians weren't much interested.

It does refute one theory--that when the vote is light those who are against ballot proposals always prevail.

It didn't work out that way Friday and this is a source of satisfaction.

Two of the constitutional amendments will cost the taxpayers' money.

One is the first step toward giving municipal and county employees pensions. The other raises the school levy ceiling from $1 to $1.25 per $100 of assessed valuation, which can be levied in cities and towns outside St. Louis without a two thirds majority vote by the people.

The levy is much higher than that in most communities so there can be no argument that imprudent, higher taxation was made easier.

But it was especially commendable that Missourians took the time--at least those few who went to the polls did--to inform themselves about the constitutional amendment to amend the state house of representatives.

Rural Missourians might easily have concluded that they would lose power in the legislature, which they will, by the redistricting plan advocated by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

In voting in favor of the plan, citizens went beyond this superficial fact.

They discovered that there was no longer a question whether there would be redistricting but it was now a matter of how best to do it.

The courts already have decided affirmatively the issue of whether it will be done.

A majority of those few citizens who went to the polls wisely concluded that it would be better for a bipartisan commission, nominated by the major political parties, and appointed by the governor, to redistrict the house than to leave the problem to the courts.

At the worst, if the matter had been left to the courts, Missourians might have been forced to vote for all house members running at large. That not only would have been a mess but virtually no legislators probably would have been chosen in the process to represent the state's rural interests.

Southeast Missouri once more supported the policies of Governor Hearnes.

It is unfortunate that so few voted but it is much better for an informed few to vote than for a mass turnout of the uninformed at the polls.

Jack Hogan says: "When it comes to arguing about money, women prefer and admire a good loser."

Ever get those "Freeway Blues" when you don't know how to get off the freeway, you missed a sign, you're in the wrong lane and you're ready to stop right there and cry?

A new freeway blue is being tried out as a way to end the problems of motorists who like freeways but don't know how the heck -- or when -- to get off of them.

Two states are trying out blue signs and lane markings -- blue, because this color hasn't been used much on highways -- to show the motorist where exit ramps are. Michigan has been testing a combination of blue signs marking exit ramps, along with blue reflectorized road-edge markings and delineators. At the test intersection, all a motorists has to do is "go with blue" and he's on the exit ramp.

Before-and-after studies have shown that there's a considerable reduction in erratic driving and that 83 per cent of the drivers approve of the system.

The blue color is also used for food, lodging, gas and rest-area signs and highway markings on the interstate highway test program.

A similar test is being made in Los Angeles on the ramps of that state's famous freeway system. Apparently, the system is working out very well and stands a good chance of being adopted on a national basis.

This would be a real blessing for the motorist who, in day or night, has little time to pick-and-choose and hunt exits while traveling at up to 80 mph on interstate expressways and toll-roads.

TIGHT MONEY AND MARTIN

PRESIDENT JOHNSON very shortly will have to make a choice that should prove a test of the depth of his New Deal neo-Populist principles. By the end of the month he must replace C. Canby Balderston, vice chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who, having served a full 14-year term as a board member, is not eligible for reappointment.

Balderston is a hard money man. He voted with the majority of the board in the 4-to-3 decision announced Dec. 5 to raise the rediscount rate from 4 per cent to 4 1/2 per cent. Ostensibly a brake on inflation, the increase angered President Johnson, whose entire political life has been attuned to the easy money traditions of the Democratic party.

But if the President should appoint an easy money man to replace Balderston, then William McChesney Martin, Jr., chairman of the Fed since 1951, might well resign from the chair--if not the Board--as he has said he would do if he ever found himself consistently in the minority. Martin is viewed by the business community as a symbol of sound economic policy. When asked recently what he would do if Johnson appointed a doctrinaire liberal to the board, Chairman Martin replied: "I'll cross that bridge when I come to it."

THE FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM by tradition is supposed to be independent of the White House and of political pressures. Board members are appointed to 14-year terms by the President and confirmed by the Senate, even though the central bank is technically privately owned and privately supported. Members are removable only for cause.

The late Sen. Carter Glass (D Va.), popularly the father of the Federal Reserve system, once quoted President Wilson as declaring: "The very moment I should attempt to establish close relations with the Board...I would be accused of trying to bring political pressure to bear." When President Truman in 1947 failed to reappoint Marriner S. Eccles, a hard money man, as board chairman, the move was widely interpreted as reducing the influence of the chairman in the whole banking community.

Congress established the Federal Reserve in 1913 to "furnish an elastic currency, to afford means of rediscounting commercial paper, to establish a more effective supervision of banking in the United States." The Banking Act of 1935 reaffirmed the independence of the system by removing from the board the Secretary of the Treasury and the Comptroller of the Currency, who theretofore had served as ex officio members.

Rep. Wright Patman (D Texas), chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee and Martin's severest critic, would do away with the board entirely, also the Fed's Open Market Committee. He would replace them with a 12-member committee headed by the Secretary of the Treasury, thus securely reining the Fed to the President.

IRONICALLY, Martin, a nominal Democrat, in early 1951 was the Treasury's chief negotiator--as assistant secretary--in the FRB-Treasury squabble over the Treasury's easy money policy. With the Treasury victory, Martin promptly was named chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

Martin served comfortably through the Eisenhower tight money years and was reappointed by President Kennedy in 1963. He has seemed able to adjust to both hard money and easy money administrations--until now.

O. C. Lewis says: "Wouldn't it be fine if all those who point a finger would hold out a hand instead."

NOTHING HALF-WAY

President Johnson's "state of the union" address Wednesday night leaves no doubt about whether the chief executive favors "guns or butter" for the national economy during the next 12 months.

He wants them both.

He wants Congress to put back excise taxes on new automobiles and telephone calls, a levy that the beleaguered taxpayer only a few days ago bid a happy good-bye to.

He wants Congress to increase the level, but not the total amount, of withholding taxes --so that Uncle Sam gets his tax money faster.

He also wants this faithful session of Congress to continue to support every program that has been launched under the "Great Society" concept--and spend some $11 billion more to support our war effort in South Viet Nam.

We'll say this much for our President--he never stops at half-way measures when he can go all the way.

And there are many in Southeast Missouri who believe that Congress won't do the presidential bidding, just as it did during 1965?

The practice of putting dates on U.S. coins goes back to 1792.

MONUMENT TO MYRT

No one will ever forget Myrt, the telephone operator. You just told her who you wanted to talk to, (never mind the number), and she rang the right phone. Or, if they weren't home, she could usually tell you where they were. She always knew where the fire was and who was sick and if you needed the doctor right away, she'd find him for you, wherever he might be.

But Myrt (or maybe it was Nell or Mary or Marge or Jennie) is gone from most communities now. And she'll never be back since, as has been pointed out, the increased dependence of America on the telephone has produced a traffic volume that not all the women in the US could handle with the facilities at Myrt's disposal.

But her spirit survives - in the emphasis on public service that dominates the regrouping

and consolidation of independent telephone companies that is now taking place and in the preservation of competition in our most vital and most widely-used public communications system - that has likewise become our most automated industry.

In a recent address to the New York Society of Security Analysts, Weldon W. Case, president of the Mid-Continent Telephone Corporation, noted that while there were 5,500 independent telephone companies in 1950 and 2,800 today, the number of telephones served by the independents has soared from six to nearly 13 million.

Mr. Case predicted an acceleration of this trend in favor of larger economic units such as Mid-Continent, formed in 1960 from five Ohio independents seeking to pool technical, professional and financial strength. Today, the System has grown to eleven operating affiliates serving more than 130,000 telephones and extends from Ohio into Pennsylvania and North Carolina. But, despite this rapid expansion in member companies, in territory and in responsibility, Mr. Case has not forgotten Myrt!

In setting forth his company's philosophy in the Harvard Business Review, Mr. Case writes: "People are the most important ingredient in any contemplated acquisition..." And he adds: "Even in such an era, electronics cannot do the thinking. It requires people to use them as tools for better service and less costly operations."

Just as it required Myrt (and the thousands of small, independent companies, many of them with equipment that now seems primitive), to build the nation's overwhelming confidence in the indispensable telephone, its expanding usefulness is a monument to Myrt.

Poplar Bluff Chosen Site For Clinic

JEFFERSON CITY, AP -- Dr. George A. Ulett announced today Kirksville, Poplar Bluff and Kansas City have been selected as the last three sites for nine new diagnostic centers for the mentally retarded.

Dr. Ulett is director of the division of mental diseases. The new centers were authorized by the 1965 legislation.

Sites previously announced were Albany, Hamblin, Rolla, Joplin, Springfield and Sikeston.

Ulett said announcement of the last three sites was delayed pending completion of a statewide study of the needs of the mentally retarded in Missouri.

The overall state plan calls for a system of multiple service day centers and related facilities that ultimately might involve 30 to 40 communities in a comprehensive care network for the mentally ill and mentally retarded.

Each of the centers for the mentally retarded is expected to cost about $400,000. Ulett said last week some of them will be in operation by next year and all will be under construction by then.

Mrs. Jesse Daniel Bennett

Cheryl Ann Mueller Is Bride Of Jesse Daniel Bennett

WASHINGTON -- Miss Cheryl Ann Mueller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Mueller, became the bride of Jesse Daniel Bennett in a lovely candlelight ceremony in St. Peter's United Church of Christ at 6 p.m., Dec. 26.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bennett of Bloomfield and the nephew of Mrs. Floyd Reed, Mrs. W. C. Edwards, Mrs. W. R. Moore and Mrs. E. B. Moore, all of Sikeston.

A beautiful program of traditional wedding music was played on the pipe organ by organist, Henry Thias. Soloist, Jack Lohan, brother-in-law of the bride, sang, "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Cathy Welcher, 6-year-old niece of the bride, gowning in a gold dress, was the flower girl, and 6-year-old Mark Lohan, the bride's nephew, was the ring bearer and carried the ring on a white satin pillow. They preceded the wedding party to the altar.

The Rev. Arthur Ebeling performed the double ring ceremony before the altar where white gladioli, red carnations and ferns were arranged to form the background. White lighted candles in white standards trimmed with large white bows marked each pew.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a beautiful gown of cut white velvet and satin fashioned with a round neckline and long tapered sleeves. The controlled front skirt with bouffant back skirt was enhanced with a large flat bow at the waist and a chapel-length train. Her headpiece was a satin bow topped by a velvet bow and accented by tiny pearls at the center. It secured a silk illusion, elbow-length veil. She carried a bouquet of deep pink roses shaped in a crescent backed with light gold velvet leaves.

Sue Crume, a college classmate, served as maid of honor, and Nancy Starrett, a high school classmate, was the bridesmaid. They wore floor-length gowns of gold delustered satin with long tapered sleeves, a fitted bodice and easy skirts. Their headpieces were double gold satin bows matching the darker color in their dresses. They carried bouquets of white carnations trimmed with light gold cedar and gold velvet bows.

Larry Winchester, of Advance and a fraternity brother, served as best man. Fred Vogt, Rolla, college classmate, acted as groomsmen. They were attired in black tuxedos, black ties and wore red and white striped carnation boutonnières.

Ushers were Dr. Doyle Ray Edwards, Rolla, brother-in-law of the groom and Kenny Howard, Chaffee, cousin of the groom.

Mrs. Mueller, mother of the bride, was dressed in teal blue and Mrs. Bennett, mother of the groom, wore a lotus blue dress. They wore white orchid corsages.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the dining hall of the church. Karen and Virginia Elsea, friends of the bride, served cake, ice cream, punch, mints and coffee. Barbara Welcher, niece of the bride, presided at the guest book.

The bride chose a three-piece light brown suit with dark brown accessories for her going

Bulldogs Win Over Fisk 63-38

In Poplar Bluff Tournament

Poplar Bluff

63-43 Winner

POPLAR BLUFF -- Behind Richard Montgomery's 16 points and a fierce team effort, the Sikeston Bulldogs opened their first game of the Poplar Bluff Invitational tournament by downing Fisk 63-38. Poplar Bluff waltzed easily to a 65-43 win over Doniphan. The Mules are seeded second in the tournament.

Sikeston controlled the boards all night. The splendid Bulldog rebounding was the deciding point of the game. The Bulldogs showed plenty of hustle and desire in last night's game and played adequate defense that kept the Pirates from scoring.

Only sixteen fouls were called all night as Sikeston had only six. Fisk did not foul until midway in the third period. McKinley Lambert and Gary Stallings led the Bulldog in the first quarter, when the Sikeston quintet leaped to a quick 18-11 lead. The Dogs never trailed after the first minute of the game, and went on to win easily.

Sikeston's ability to control the ball and pick off the rebounds kept the score down. The Bulldogs moved slowly and carefully on offense, and waited for the shot and normally got it. The Bulldogs played perhaps one of their best games of the season, as the spirit of Dogs was great.

Sikeston will face second seeded Poplar Bluff Thursday night at Poplar Bluff.

New Madrid Howardville 46-37 Winner Slips Past

Morehouse

NEW MADRID -- Matthews Pirates split games here last night with New Madrid winning the "A" game 46-37 and Matthews the "B" 33-26.

New Madrid with good defense and rebounding came back the second half after trailing by two points went ahead 31-29 at the end of the third period and never trailed.

Matthews scored on the opening tip off and led after the first quarter 11-9, but fell the second half as New Madrid's defense began to take its toll. Herron, Pearson, and Byrd scored 13, 12, and 11 points respectively for the Indians as they held the Matthews quintet to only one double figure scorer who was Kenny Whitson with 10 points.

In the "B" game both teams played nip and tuck the first half but Matthews began to pull away the second half as their fast break began to work. Hardin and Ring led the Matthews scoring attack with nine points each. For New Madrid it was Faulkner and Lomax scoring eight each.

Wildcats Win No. 17 Beat Dexter 48-38

BLOOMFIELD -- A capacity crowd of about 2,000 watched the Dexter Bearcats try and average a loss early in the season last night but fell short after Bloomfield pulled to a 11-4 first period lead and was never threatened again; Bloomfield won 48-38.

Bloomfield who out rebounded the visiting Bearcats ran their season record to 17-1 and have yet to be beaten by a Missouri team. The Wildcats hitting a sharp 58 per cent from the field proved to be too much for the Bearcats as they trailed after the opening tip off.

Mike Wise, Bloomfield senior center scored 15 points and pulled down as many rebounds as he lead his team to victory, another spark plug in the Wildcats line-up was Don Underwood who scored 12 points and got into foul trouble early in the game and was forced to play only about two quarters.

Ringer led the Bearcats in the scoring column as he was the only man to score in double figures.

Free! The Catholic faith explained

Simple "capsule study" is offered to all who seek a deeper understanding of Christianity

This free course of instruction offers you a quick, simple means of understanding the beliefs of Catholics.

For members of other Christian churches, the course is invaluable. It takes you back to earliest days of Christianity when there was but one church and one unified belief in Christ... gives you a new insight into Christian teaching. Further, it helps you understand your Catholic neighbors and find the religious harmony so many Christians are seeking. For people who do not belong to any

Christian church body, this literature may well help you find the happiness that comes from practicing Christianity. The booklet gives you logical explanations of the relationship man must have with God before he can find the real meaning of his existence... and belief in the immortality of his soul.

The two booklets are the first two courses in a series of six, which include questions and answers. The other four are available for the asking. The course will be sent in plain wrapper and no one will call on you.

Bulldogs Win Over Fisk 63-38

In Poplar Bluff Tournament

Poplar Bluff

63-43 Winner

POPULAR BLUFF -- Behind Richard Montgomery's 16 points and a fierce team effort, the Sikeston Bulldogs opened their first game of the Poplar Bluff Invitational tournament by downing Fisk 63-38.

Poplar Bluff waltzed easily to a 65-43 win over Doniphan. The Mules are seeded second in the tournament.

Sikeston controlled the boards all night. The splendid Bulldog rebounding was the deciding point of the game.

The Bulldogs showed plenty of hustle and desire in last night's game and played adequate defense that kept the Pirates from scoring.

Only sixteen fouls were called all night as Sikeston had only six. Fisk did not foul until midway in the third period.

Sports Corner

Southeast Missouri basketball fans will get a preview of the Stoddard, New Madrid, and Semo Conference teams this week as the teams will be busy in a number of games.

The Bloomfield Wildcats, the number one team in Southeast Missouri with a 16-1 record for the season will engage the Puxico Indians at Puxico, Richland will try and bring a victory home Friday night as they take on the Advance Hornets at home.

Howardville Hawks, the number two team in Southeast Missouri, will travel to Lilbourn for a conference showdown. Parma takes on Matthews and Portageville will visit Gideon.

In the Semo conference the Kennett Indians with a 13-1 record will have its record at stake in the Poplar Bluff Invitational tournament, while the second place Perryville Pirates put their record up for grabs in their own Invitational tournament. The Scott-Mississippi tournament already in progress will have two of the area's top ten in participation with Oran and Scott Central trying to beat each other. Oran is number three in the top ten while Scott Central is number nine.

Last week in area action Oran downed Patton 79-60 for their fifteenth straight victory after losing their first three games. Kennett beat Holcomb and raised their record to 13-1. Perryville, who was not rated as of last week, knocked off the highly rated Dexter Bearcats, 50-49.

New Madrid Howardville 46-37 Winner Slips Past

NEW MADRID -- Matthews Pir- rates split games here last night with New Madrid winning the "A" game 46-37 and Matthews the "B" 33-26.

New Madrid with good defense and rebounding came back the second half after trailing by two points went ahead 31-29 at the end of the third period and never trailed.

Matthews scored on the opening tip off and led after the first quarter 11-9, but fell the second half as New Madrid's defense began to take its toll. Herron, Pearson, and Byrd scored 13, 12, and 11 points respectively for the Indians as they held the Matthews quintet to only one double figure scorer who was Kenny Whitson with 10 points.

In the "B" game both teams played nip and tuck the first half but Matthews began to pull away the second half as their fast break began to work. Hardin and Ring led the Matthews scoring attack with nine points each. For New Madrid it was Faulkner and Lomax scoring eight each.

White House Wit

HARRY S. TRUMAN
President 1945-1953

Truman was the subject of highly laudatory speeches when he visited New York in April, 1965, to receive the annual Freedom House award.

Commenting on all the nice things that had been said about him, Truman quipped: "You don't know how over-come I am. You don't know how difficult it is to be present at your own funeral and still be able to walk around."

President Truman once told a group of friends of a story he had read in the papers "where a man had called the doctor about three o'clock in the morning and said that his wife had appendicitis and that he wished the doctor would come immediately and do something about it. The doctor told the man to give his wife bicarbonate of soda -- that he knew very well that she didn't have two appendices as he had taken one out just three years before. The man came back with the statement that he knew a woman couldn't have two appendices but a man could have two wives in three years."

From a 1948 Truman campaign speech in Dexter, Iowa: "I heard a fellow tell a story about how he felt when he had to make speeches. He said when he has to make a speech, he felt like the fellow who was at the funeral of his wife, and the undertaker had asked him if he would ride down to the cemetery in the same car with his mother-in-law. He said, 'Well, I can do it, but it's just going to spoil the whole day for me.'" ness setting of five "Wild Rivers," including one in Missouri.

The bill-first to be introduced in this session — is to "protect the remnants of America's great rushing stretches of white water, the salmon-spawning rivers and those rare waterways of pure, clear current which mirror banks and foliage almost as old as time itself."

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Monday.

It would set up a National Wild River System, comprised initially of segments of five rivers, the Salmon and Clearwater of Idaho, the Rogue in Oregon, and Rio Grande in New Mexico and the Eleven Point in Missouri.

Other rivers are specified for study for possible inclusion later.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clear sailing was expected today when the Senate voted on a measure to preserve the historic wilderness setting of five "Wild Rivers," including one in Missouri. The bill-first to be introduced in this session — is to "protect the remnants of America's great rushing stretches of white water; the salmon-spawning rivers and those rare waterways of pure, clean current which mirror banks and foliage almost as old as time itself." Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Monday.

It would set up a National Wild River System, comprised initially of segments of five rivers, the Salmon and Clearwater of Idaho, the Rogue in Oregon, and Rio Grande in New Mexico and the Eleven Point in Missouri.

Other rivers are specified for study for possible inclusion later.

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I have read your stand against Christmas office parties and I agree with you 100 per cent. And now will you say something about the annual "Boss' Night" party which is another thinly disguised attempt by the secretaries to get chummy with the executives? The "girls" are mostly widows, divorcees and spinsters who plan cocktails, dinner, dancing and the whole bit. My husband's secretary is old enough to be his mother, so please don't think I feel threatened. Frankly, I resent it when he leaves me and the children to spend an evening this way. He has told me he doesn't enjoy these parties but he hates to hurt his secretary's feelings.

Am I all wet or am I right in thinking that the secretaries see our husbands more hours out of the day than we do and that the annual "Boss' Night" ought to be discontinued? -- INDIGNANT

Dear Dig: Of all the two-bit, penny ante complaints, yours takes the cake.

There is as much similarity between the office Christmas Party and Boss' Night as between the moon and green cheese.

In answer to your question, Yes, You ARE all wet.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a grandmother who is trying awfully hard to keep my nose out of my married children's business. But when someone you love goes off the track it is difficult to remain silent.

My daughter's son is three and a half years old. He has picked up some profane and obscene words from his "wise elders." When he uses these words his mother spansks him, washes his mouth out with soap and makes such a fuss that the whole family is in an uproar.

I have come to believe that the youngster now uses these words to get attention.

All children repeat profane and nasty words when they are growing up. They don't know what the words mean, I've tried to get this idea across to my daughter but without success. Please print my letter and your views. -- DISTRESSED NANA

Dear Nana: You are right. It is best to ignore profane and nasty words from preschool children. Older ones, however, should be told, "We don't use that kind of language in our house," and then the matter should be dropped.

Dear Ann Landers: You had lousy advice for the woman who was sick of her husband's ex-wife. A person who doesn't have to put up with such guff can't know what it's like.

Your statement, "When you marry a divorced man you buy the total package -- ex-wife, and the whole kit and kaboodle," is nonsense. I don't recall anything in my marriage vows that said I have to put up with my husband's ex-wife. That tramp can't set her foot inside my house. If she ever tried it I'd part her hair with a baseball bat.

A second wife has a tough enough time without you horning in on the side of the first wife. I wish you'd shut up on this subject. -- MADAT YOU

Dear Reader: Your letter came in the same batch with hundreds of others -- from first wives who are also furious with me. They are hair-pulling mad because I said a recent survey showed that second marriages are working out a shade better these days than first marriages. I can't win.

To solve some of the frustrations, disappointments and disillusionments of married life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FREEDOMS OR UNITED NATIONS
Hard - hitting TRUTHS exposing error and false doctrines do not tickle ears. The prophets of God in old times did not tickle ears; they told severe truths, and they were hated and killed.

Because TRUTH does not soothe the itch for something soft, people turn their ears away. To where? Says the Bible: "And they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned into fables." - 2 Tim 4:4.

Do you know why our Forefathers decided against entanglements with all foreign nations? Because throughout history all of them were one-party, socialist forms of government - whereby the politician vassals appointed by dictators, enforced poverty and slavery upon their people by force and confiscatory taxes.

Most revolutions - and we still see them today all over the world - were conflicts between new power-hungry politicians to wrest control of the people from the then dictator in power. Whoever won - the people were still in bondage.

Our American revolution, was the ONLY one in history that provided human freedoms and for such a long period of time. The reason - our Founding Fathers were religious, learned men - devoid of ambitions for dictator power over all of our people. They believed in "the laws of Nature's God," and that "all men are endowed by their Creator with certain, unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

With unshakable belief in and reliance upon their God - the great Giver of all blessings - they were a breed of politicians entirely different from the immoral and even satanic, power-hungry rulers throughout history, and a new crop of the same in America the last 40 years.

Shall we close our eyes and ears to the change in our beloved America the past 40 years? For 150 years we had Government of, by and for the people. Today we have government of, by and for the politicians we elected - with unlimited Federal control, and a trillion and a quarter dollars of indebtedness piled up for our descendants over generations to pay.

The itch, and the something soft we fell for, was the age-old fallacy - "Trust us, your politicians, and we will take care of you from the cradle to the grave."

Those same politicians (Democrats and Republicans in name only) decided that they were smart enough to meddle in the politics of atheist and neutral countries all over the globe - that there is no limit to printing-press billions of fiat U. S. Bonds, to be used as money - who recommend destroying our U. S. Constitution - substituting therefor a one-world constitution - with world powers in a one-world court of foreigners - mostly atheistic and neutral - all of whom tell the world that our capitalistic, free-enterprise is doomed - with only one vote for America - America to pay most of the costs - and no qualms evidently, about loss of our freedoms and our Star Spangled Banner being eventually replaced by the sickening United Nations flag.

Remember this every time a politician from President down tells us of the Utopia we will enjoy under a Godless United Nations. Remember it especially at the polls in 1966.

THE AMERICAN WAY To Jobs-Peace-Democracy

5. Win Equal Rights for the Negro People!

Democracy is only as strong as its weakest link. All progressive forces should give full support to the fight for the rights of the Negro people for their rights. This is necessary because the fight for the liberation of the Negro nation, for the rights of all the Negro people is an integral part of the fight for democracy, for peace, for the rights and living standards of labor and all the people.

If there were no oppression of the Negro people in our land, there would be no wage differentials between the North and the South. Thus, Southern white workers, together with their Negro brothers, would receive higher wages, while Northern labor could put an end to run-away shops and Southern cheap labor competition. In this way wage levels could be raised for the whole country.

If there were no oppression of the Negro people there would be no poll-tax congressmen. Without poll-tax congressmen it would have been far more difficult for the reactionaries to pass the Taft-Hartley, the Smith and the McCarran Acts. If there were no poll-tax Dixiecrat congressmen in Washington there also would be a better chance to get improved social security legislation, price and rent controls, more federal aid to education, a federal housing program, greater aid for the unemployed and the aged, and far more equitable tax laws.

Thus, the American people are paying for the shame of Jim Crow. This price is added to the humiliation and oppression heaped upon the Negro people. The Negro people should have their freedom because that is right. They should have it also because all America has a stake in it, stands to gain by it. Democracy, like peace, is indivisible.

We urge prompt federal action to wipe out every form of discrimination in employment and job opportunities. Negro workers, Mexican, Puerto Rican, Indian and Jewish workers, and for women and young people. This can help end the practice of hiring Negro workers last and firing them first, of denying them opportunities for advancement as skilled workers, of employment as white-collar workers or professionals. A federal FEPC, strictly enforced, can help prevent the corporations from pitting one group of workers against another and from reducing wage standards for all workers.

We further urge federal civil rights legislation to outlaw the poll-tax, lynching, segregation and Jim Crow. Equal educational opportunities and the right to full representation should be guaranteed the Negro people, North and South.

We call upon wage workers, working farmers, the Negro people, small business and professional people, upon the women and the youth, to join hands in a common fight against the ravages of economic depression, against the menace of McCarthyism -- for jobs, peace and freedom. We urge support for the anti-depression demands of the A. F. of L. and C. I. O., for the farm demands of the National Farmers' Union, for the democratic demands of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, for every proposal, every action, which can help save our people from threatening economic ruin, fascism, and war. VI. What Has To Be Done--The Road Ahead

This Program for Jobs, Peace and Democracy is a program for America. It can be realized. It corresponds to the need of the people under circumstances in which their liberties and living standards are in imminent danger of complete destruction and in which they are not prepared to accept socialism as the way out.

The program outlined here cannot do away with the planlessness and recurring economic crises of capitalism. Only socialism can do that.

This program can help, however, to delay the outbreak of an economic depression and to cushion its blow upon the people. It can save America from the clear and present danger of McCarthyism -- can block war and fascism, save U. S. living standards, and maintain democracy.

No one group in America can achieve these things. The unity of all democratic and peace-loving forces is needed--unity irrespective of ideological and political differences on other questions and on longer range goals.

If democratic unity is to be welded, and in time, a major responsibility rests upon the organized labor movement. It must become the propelling force of a popular coalition movement which unites labor, the working farmers, the Negro people, small and middle-sized business and those groups of capital opposed to the McCarthy program of fascism and war.

Such an alliance must also include the nation's professionals and intellectuals; its women, youth and nationality groups. This alliance, if it is to become fully effective, must include the Left and the Communists who have a vital and indispensable contribution to make.

Labor does not play its full role today. It does not give a clear and firm lead because it is unclear and divided itself, because its own ranks are infected with Red-baiting and the "cold war," because its top leaders still play the part of errand boys to big business politicians.

The responsibility for this rests on the official leadership of the major trade union centers, the A. F. of L., C. I. O., Railroad Brotherhoods and Mine Workers. By their support of Wall Street's foreign policy and the anti-Communist drive they have misled the workers. The labor movement must change its course if it is to save itself and help save the nation. It should practice the slogan, "an injury to one is an injury to all." This should govern the relationship of one section of labor to another, and of the labor movement to the farmers, the Negro people, the professionals, intellectuals, and small business people. This can be achieved only by an alert and active rank and file.

There are signs of a new awakening in our land. Larger sections of the people are beginning to speak up for peace and for a program of peacetime jobs. They are becoming alarmed over the menace of McCarthyism. Their opposition to the Eisenhower Administration is growing. The bitter fruits of the war drive are bound further to dispel many illusions. The people are compelled to enter more energetically and consciously into the struggle to defend their living standards, their democratic liberties, and their peace. The collision between the people and the foreign and domestic policies of McCarthyism must grow in volume and intensity.

Important sections of the labor movement are becoming increasingly conscious of the life-and-death need for labor unity. Some of these are also beginning to point in the direction of increased independent political action, are beginning to think in terms of forming a great political alliance under labor's leadership. Price Pressure Grows

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK -- Pressure for price increases is growing with businessmen paying the most attention to industrial raw material prices.

These unglamorous items have a way of working their course quietly through the economy to appear eventually in the goods consumers buy. Metals have been causing much of the newspaper talk of late. Prices of aluminum and its products, of copper and its products, of steel and its products, have been making the most headlines.

But other raw materials are working higher, or seemingly itching to. Some chemicals, for example, have gone up and others are under pressure to rise.

In fact, seven of the 13 industrial commodities the Bureau of Labor Statistics includes in its price index have risen substantially in the last two months. The index held close to 115 per cent of its 1957-59 average from the first of June to the middle of November. But it is now above 120 per cent.

Other commodity prices on the bureau's wholesale index have also risen in the last year. In January 1965, wholesale farm product prices stood at 93 per cent of the 1957-59 base. In January 1966 prices has risen to 102.9 per cent, with the big jump in recent months. Wholesale food products have risen from 102.2 per cent a year ago to 108.9 per cent today. The component of other commodities has risen in the year from 101.9 per cent to 103.2 per cent.

These increases in themselves aren't alarming. But what the business community is watching is the turmoil in the prices of basic raw materials.

And the reason is that in the industrial raw material area the price increases have been only partly because of rising production costs. The big factor has been the overtaking of supply by swelling demand.

In most instances this faster rise in use of raw materials than in the production of them has been on a worldwide basis, rather than peculiar to the United States. Greater use of raw materials by an expanding industrial economy is one reason. Another has been a series of strikes that have cut production of some essential materials, particularly copper. Efforts to hold down prices of basic materials here has in a number of cases produced a two-price system. Producers can get a higher price in world markets than they can at home.

Paul C. Jones Reports From Washington

It is usually uncomfortable to be in a minority, and particularly when one votes with only five other members, when 401 vote as they did last June 2, to repeal certain excise taxes which were estimated to reduce our national revenue by $4.8 billion, without providing some other source of revenue to make up for this loss.

For this reason, many can understand the feeling your Representative had while listening to the President's State of the Union Message, in which he, among other things, recommended restoring the excise taxes on automobiles and certain telephone services, only 12 days after the cuts, which he had recommended and which Congress has approved, had taken effect.

I have reread at least portions of the debate of last June, including the remarks I made at the time stating my reasons for voting against repeal of the taxes--not because I favored the taxes, but because I felt Congress was making a mistake in reducing revenue from this source without providing some other source. I had the feeling then, which has since been justified, that we could not afford to lose this revenue, and go further into debt, as we have. Now, some will ask, will you vote to restore these taxes. Without definitely committing myself, I doubt if I will support the President's recommendation for reinstating the tax reduction which became effective only 12 days before his recommendation. The taxes which were imposed as a wartime measure, should have been removed shortly after World War II, or at least at the conclusion of the Korean conflict. I think there is a more logical source.

My tax philosophy is quite simple. During times when this nation is not facing an emergency, such as a war or a depression, and certainly in times of prosperity, we should impose taxes sufficient to maintain a balanced budget, and not go deeper into debt. I have always been willing to vote any increase in taxes needed to finance any program which the public wants sufficiently enough to be willing to pay for. In my opinion taxes should be imposed most heavily upon those who can most easily bear the burden. This means the income tax is perhaps the most equitable.

Without over-simplifying the problem, it would seem that the most simple way to increase our national revenue in order to meet emergency and extraordinary expenses, such as we are experiencing in the Vietnam war, and which the President has stated will require an additional $5.8 billion during the next fiscal year, is to increase all income tax payments by a percentage sufficient to raise this amount of money. This could be done without disturbing the present formulas which are written into the law, and after computing the amount of income tax which an individual or corporation would ordinarily pay, that this amount be increased by the percentage necessary to raise the $5.8 billion additional needed. For instance, if it was determined that on the basis of last year's income tax revenue, it was necessary to increase this amount by 10%, then the individual who ordinarily would pay $1,000, would have his tax increased by $100. When the emergency was over the "excise tax on income taxes" could be repealed without the necessity of disturbing the tax base, presuming that it is as nearly equitable as Congress has been able to determine over the years. Sounds too simple to be practical? Maybe.

Escapes from Bloomfield Jail

BLOOMFIELD -- A St. Louis man held for burglary and larceny escaped Sunday from the city jail at Bloomfield, according to the highway patrol. Phillip Delano Finazzo, 33, described as 5 feet 9 inches tall, and weighing 155 pounds, was reported wearing light-colored trousers and a gray jacket when he fled. Authorities said he has brown eyes and long brown hair and a dark complexion and needs a shave. Finazzo, who was held with two other men in connection with the burglary of the Western Auto Store at Advance, had been transferred from the Stoddard County Jail to the City Jail after he created a disturbance, a deputy said. The deputy said Finazzo escaped by prying loose bricks.

THE AMERICAN WAY To Jobs-Peace-Democracy

422 N. Prospect St. Wheaton, Ill.

V. The Communist Program Against Depression--For Jobs, Peace, Democracy (Cont.)
5. Win Equal Rights for the Negro People!

Democracy is only as strong as its weakest link. All progressive forces should give full support to the valiant fight of the Negro people for their rights. This is necessary because the fight for the liberation of the Negro nation, for the rights of all the Negro people is an integral part of the fight for democracy, for peace, for the rights and living standards of labor and all the people.

If there were no oppression
of the Negro people in our land, there would be no wage differentials between the North and the South. Thus, Southern white workers, together with their Negro brothers, would receive higher wages, while Northern labor could put an end to run-away shops and Southern cheap labor competition. In this way wage levels could be raised for the whole country.

If there were no oppression
of the Negro people there would be no poll-tax congressmen. Without poll-tax congressmen it would have been far more difficult for the reactionaries to pass the Taft-Hartley, the Smith and the McCarran Acts.

If there were no poll-tax Dixiecrat congressmen in Washington there also would be a better chance to get improved social security legislation, price and rent controls, more federal aid to education, a federal housing program, greater aid for the unemployed and the aged, and far more equitable tax laws.

Thus, the American people are paying for the shame of Jim Crow. This price is added to the humiliation and oppression heaped upon the Negro people.
The Negro people should have their freedom because that is right. They should have it also because all America has a stake in it, stands to gain by it. Democracy, like peace, is indivisible.

We urge prompt federal action to wipe out every form of discrimination in employment and job opportunities for Negro workers, Mexican, Puerto Rican, Indian and Jewish workers, and for women and young people. This can help end the practice of hiring Negro workers last and firing them first, of denying them opportunities for advancement as skilled workers, or of employment as white-collar workers or professionals. A federal FEPC, strictly enforced, can help prevent the corporations from pitting one group of workers against another and from reducing wage standards for all workers.

We further urge federal civil rights legislation to outlaw the poll-tax, lynching, segregation and Jim Crow. Equal educational opportunities and the right to full representation should be guaranteed the Negro people, North and South.

We call upon wage workers, working farmers, the Negro people, small business and professional people, upon the women and the youth, to join hands in a common fight against the ravages of economic depression, against the menace of McCarthyism -- for jobs, peace and freedom. We urge support for the anti-depression demands of the A. F. of L. and C. I. O., for the farm demands of the National Farmers' Union, for the democratic demands of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, for every proposal, every action, which can help save our people from threatening economic ruin, fascism, and war.

VI. What Has To Be Done--
The Road Ahead

This Program for Jobs, Peace and Democracy is a program for America. It can be realized. It corresponds to the need of the people under circumstances in which their liberties and living standards are in imminent danger of complete destruction and in which they are not prepared to accept socialism as the way out.

The program outlined here cannot do away with the planlessness and recurring economic crises of capitalism.
Only socialism can do that.
This Program can help, however, to delay the outbreak of an economic depression and to cushion its blow upon the people. It can save America from the clear and present danger of McCarthyism -- can block war and fascism, save U. S. living standards, and maintain democracy.

No one group in America can achieve these things. The unity of all democratic and peace-loving forces is needed--unity irrespective of ideological and political differences on other questions and on longer range goals.

If democratic unity is to be welded, and in time, a major responsibility rests upon the organized labor movement. It must become the propelling force of a popular coalition movement which unites labor, the working farmers, the Negro people, small and middle-sized business and those groups of capital opposed to the McCarthy program of fascism and war.
Such an alliance must also include the nation's professionals and intellectuals; its women, youth and nationality groups.
This alliance, if it is to become fully effective, must include the Left and the Communists who have a vital and indispensable contribution to make.

Labor does not play its full role today. It does not give a clear and firm lead because it is unclear and divided itself, because its own ranks are infected with Red-baiting and the "cold war," because its top leaders still play the part of errand boys to big business politicians.

The responsibility for this rests on the official leadership of the major trade union centers, the A. F. of L., C. I. O., Railroad Brotherhoods and Mine Workers. By their support of Wall Street's foreign policy and the anti-Communist drive they have misled the workers.

The labor movement must change its course if it is to save itself and help save the nation.
It should practice the slogan,
"an injury to one is an injury to all." This should govern the relationship of one section of labor to another, and of the labor movement to the farmers, the Negro people, the professionals, intellectuals, and small business people.

This can be achieved only by an alert and active rank and file.

There are signs of a new awakening in our land. Larger sections of the people are beginning to speak up for peace and for a program of peacetime jobs. They are becoming alarmed over the menace of McCarthyism. Their opposition to the Eisenhower Administration is growing. The bitter fruits of the war drive are bound further to dispel many illusions.
The people are compelled to enter more energetically and consciously into the struggle to defend their living standards, their democratic liberties, and their peace. The collision between the people and the foreign and domestic policies of Mc-Carthyism must grow in volume and intensity.

Important sections of the labor movement are becoming increasingly conscious of the life-and-death need for labor unity.
Some of these are also beginning to point in the direction of increased independent political action, are beginning to think in terms of forming a great political alliance under labor's leadership.

I have reread at least portions of the debate of last June, including the remarks I made at the time stating my reasons for voting against repeal of the taxes--not because I favored the taxes, but because I felt Congress was making a mistake in reducing revenue from this source without providing some other source. I had the feeling then, which has since been justified, that we could not afford to lose this revenue, and go further into debt, as we have.

Now, some will ask, will you vote to restore these taxes.
Without definitely committing myself, I doubt if I will support the President's recommendation for reinstating the tax reduction which became effective only 12 days before his recommendation. The taxes which were imposed as a wartime measure, should have been removed shortly after World War II, or at least at the conclusion of the Korean conflict. I think there is a more logical source.

My tax philosophy is quite simple. During times when this nation is not facing an emergency, such as a war or a depression, and certainly in times of prosperity, we should impose taxes sufficient to maintain a balanced budget, and not go deeper into debt. I have always been willing to vote any increase in taxes needed to finance any program which the public wants sufficiently enough to be willing to pay for. In my opinion taxes should be imposed most heavily upon those who can most easily bear the burden.

This means the income tax is perhaps the most equitable.

Without over-simplifying the problem, it would seem that the most simple way to increase our national revenue in order to meet emergency and extraordinary expenses, such as we are experiencing in the Vietnam war, and which the President has stated will require an additional $5.8 billion during the next fiscal year, is to increase all income tax payments by a percentage sufficient to raise this amount of money.
This could be done without disturbing the present formulas which are written into the law, and after computing the amount of income tax which an individual or corporation would ordinarily pay, that this amount be increased by the percentage necessary to raise the $5.8 billion additional needed. For instance, if it was determined that on the basis of last year's income tax revenue, it was necessary to increase this amount by 10%, then the individual who ordinarily would pay $1,000, would have his tax increased by $100. When the emergency was over the "excise tax on

The Daily Sikeston Standard, Sikeston, Mo.
Wednesday, January 19, 1966 7

income taxes" could be repealed without the necessity of disturbing the tax base, presuming that it is as nearly equitable as Congress has been able to determine over the years. Sounds too simple to be practical? Maybe.

Escapes from Bloomfield Jail

BLOOMFIELD -- A St. Louis man held for burglary and larceny escaped Sunday from the city jail at Bloomfield, according to the highway patrol.
Phillip Delano Finazzo, 33, described as 5 feet 9 inches tall, and weighing 155 pounds, was reported wearing light-colored trousers and a gray jacket when he fled. Authorities said he has brown eyes and long brown hair and a dark complexion and needs a shave.
Finazzo, who was held with two other men in connection with the burglary of the Western Auto Store at Advance, had been transferred from the Stodard County Jail to the City Jail after he created a disturbance, a deputy said.

The deputy said Finazzo escaped by prying loose bricks.

Breakaway Sign Saves Lives, Money

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. AP -- A motorist sped along a Texas Freeway early one rainy morning recently, chatting with a companion.

Suddenly a truck forced the car to spin out of control. The car smashed at high speed into a freeway sign.

Instant death? Serious injury? Irreparable damage?

None of these, thanks to a "breakaway" sign designed to save lives and money. Both driver and passenger escaped injury and damage to the auto was not great.

A year earlier a similar mishap occurred at the same spot, before the experimental sign had replaced a conventional highway marker. The driver was killed.

The incidents reflect the potential of the safety device, undergoing extensive study at Texas A&M's Transportation Institute.

The research program produced a design for breakaway sign supports last year and the Texas Highway Department then began experimental usage.

The original sign, said State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer, was built with rigid supports, each connected to a concrete foundation. Highway crews modified the sign by installing slip joints and hinges.

Greer said the slip joints parted upon impact and the sign sailed away without causing damage.

The breakaway sign grew from an investigation begun in 1963 at Texas A&M.

"We found out so much, it was decided to go into it further," said A. C. Taylor of Fort Worth, regional engineer for the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads. The bureau awarded the Transportation Institute a $367,000 grant to finance a "second phase" of the project.

The bureau says single-vehicle collisions with fixed objects cause an estimated 40 per cent of all fatal accidents on rural roads, while damage usually exceeds $400 per accident.

Essentially, Taylor explained, the breakaway sign upon impact "slides out as the support breaks loose under the sign itself. The sign flies high into the air, giving the car time to pass underneath."

frame buildings; in those years, however, the area was sparsely populated.

Since that time, more than 70 earth tremors have been recorded within a 200-mile radius of New Madrid. The majority of these tremors were close to an intensity of five.

At this intensity, the earthquake is strong enough to be felt by a person who is out-of-doors; and indoors, there is noticeable vibration of unstable objects such as dishes and pictures.

Dr. Mateker said that the Washington University group will coordinate its project with the research efforts of St. Louis University's geophysics department.

The St. Louis University department has made regional seismological studies and has a continuing program to locate and study local earthquakes.

The department of earth sciences at Washington University has done various geological and geophysical studies in Missouri and adjacent areas for many years. Information from these projects will be utilized in the new research program.

Big Year for Presidential Trips

WASHINGTON (AP) -- This looks like a big year for presidential travel -- to all parts of the country and, perhaps, to points overseas.

President Johnson set a record in the 1964 campaign year for travel by a chief executive. But his wanderings slumped sharply in 1965 because of his Oct. 8 surgery and because, earlier, he felt compelled to stick close to Washington at a time when Congress faced a heavy work load and he was confronted by hard choices on Viet Nam.

Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic crisis also put an end to presidential hopes of visiting Europe, Latin America and -- had things worked out better -- the Soviet Union.

Johnson didn't even get to attend the London funeral of Sir Winston Churchill, though he badly wanted to go. An "executive flu" bug put him in bed for nearly a week.

But this is a new year -- and another important election year. Johnson and his White House aides again are beginning to canvass travel possibilities for the months ahead.

The President feels that especially after his surgery, he needs to visit the voters in widely scattered parts of the country.

Presumably an influencing factor in his own popularity rating as measured by public opinion polls. The year-end polls showed he had slumped a bit in popular estimation, though his approval rating still topped 60 per cent. Johnson attributed this to his enforced inactivity after surgery.

In considering future travel, however, Johnson is not concerned solely with his personal popularity. There are several compelling reasons to undertake a new meet-the-voters effort.

Congress will be dealing with a new basketful of Johnson programs, some of which the President would like to promote at the grass roots.

Money must be raised for Democratic campaigns this fall, and Johnson is the party's biggest drawing card at $100-a-plate dinners.

The President knows that -- with rare exceptions, the party in power loses ground in off-year congressional elections. He doesn't want that to happen in November if personal campaigning might help tip the balance.

Last year Johnson had hoped to finish strong in the travel department. When he got word in September that gall bladder surgery was needed, he and his staff were deeply involved in planning autumn appearances in all parts of the country -- as far west as Hawaii.

All these plans had to be scrapped. And many of those who had hoped to lure Johnson to their precincts last fall now are pressing to claim rain checks in 1966. This is especially true of party fund-raisers who had to cancel out ambitious dinner plans.

It is doubtful, however, that most presidential trips in early 1966 will have a direct political aura. As in the first months of 1964, Johnson seems much more likely to seek out non-political invitations -- to dedicate worthy projects or address influential nonpartisan audiences.

The straightaway politicking will come later.

Very much up in the air at this point are possible journeys abroad. Johnson would like to visit Western Europe, perhaps in the spring, but no decisions have been made. He wants to get to Latin America when a good opportunity arises.

Business Gains Mount

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK -- The industrial machine has gone into high gear as Congress gets set to decide which would be better for the economy: stepping on the brake or the throttle.

Sharp gains in the production of industrial materials and a sizable jump in output of durable goods at year-end are reported by the Federal Reserve Board.

An increase in industrial production has been expected. The size of the gain in December came as a surprise to some observers.

Polls of top business executives show the big majority confident that more speed ahead is likely this year.

The optimistic industrialists are aware of all the uncertainties the Viet Nam war creates and they have heard all the warnings of the dire results should the economy overheat. They know that the government could clamp on fiscal brakes or shift more production from civilian goods to military goods, whether hardware or textiles.

But most businessmen still are counting on the next six months at least, and probably all of 1966, being far ahead of the smartly quicker pace set in the final months of 1965. They expect only mild, if any, application of the brakes.

The Federal Reserve reports its industrial production index jumped two points in December -- to a record 148.3 per cent of the 1957-59 average from the previous high point of 146.3 per cent set in November. This put the output at nearly 10.2 points above the level of a year ago.

Industrial production is often seen as a sure sign of which way the economy is going, and how fast. For 1965 as a whole, the industrial production index was 8 per cent higher than for 1964 as a whole. And with the trend apparently still upward, 1966 looks bright.

But industrial production is only a little more than a third of all the goods and services turned out in the United States. It doesn't reflect the contributions of the still growing service trades, construction, transportation, agriculture, finance, foreign trade, and the wholesale and retail trades. Much of this two-thirds of the economy also has been expanding of late.

Cattle on Feed Up 5 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The Agriculture Department reported today cattle and calves on feed for the quality slaughter market in 39 feeding states totaled 9,963,000 head on Jan. 1, an increase of 5 per cent from a year earlier.

The delayed report said the number on feed in the north-central cornbelt area was 6,086,000, up 4 per cent from a year earlier. Iowa, the leading state, was down 7 per cent, while Nebraska, the second ranking state was up 19 per cent. All other states in this region except North Dakota showed increases over a year earlier.

The number on the 32 major feed states totaled 6,670,000, 4 per cent above Jan. 1, 1965.

The report said cattle feeders in these states intend to market 4,514,000 head during the January-March period. This is 4 per cent more than actual marketing for the same period a year earlier.

The number on feed on Jan. 1 this year and last respectively, by major states, included: Missouri 300,000 and 270,000 last year; Kansas 456,000 and 407,000.

up some of the questions with animated cartoons -- the only light note in a pretty somber 60 minutes.

As in CBS' earlier "National Driving Test" and "National Citizenship Test," the program has great value if it only alerts a large number of people that they are neglecting to inform themselves on some literally vital matters.

Red Skelton's CBS hour Tuesday night was, for the second time, a very special treat. His guest was the brilliant French master of pantomime, Marcel Marceau. The pair gave a two-man show much in the manner of a tap dancing team, with first one and then the other stepping forward to perform his specialties.

Skelton's pantomime was much broader and funnier than Marceau's. He was amusing with his imitation of a woman driving a car, a man looking at his new-born child and sewing up his fingers, a strange but impressive bit he has done before. His most effective number also was a repeat -- an astronaut on his first walk in space, a turn that starts out as comedy and then changes suddenly into tragedy.

frame buildings; in those years, however, the area was sparsely populated. Since that time, more than 70 earth tremors have been recorded within a 200-mile radius of New Madrid. The majority of these tremors were close to an intensity of five. At this intensity, the earthquake is strong enough to be felt by a person who is out-of-doors; and indoors, there is noticeable vibration of unstable objects such as dishes and pictures. Dr. Mateker said that the Washington University group will coordinate its project with the research efforts of St. Louis University's geophysics department. The St. Louis University department has made regional seismological studies and has a continuing program to locate and study local earthquakes. The department of earth sciences at Washington University has done various geological and geophysical studies in Missouri and adjacent areas for many years. Information from these projects will be utilized in the new research program.

Breakaway Sign Saves Lives, Money

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. AP -- A motorist sped along a Texas Freeway early one rainy morning recently, chatting with a companion. Suddenly a truck forced the car to spin out of control. The car smashed at high speed into a freeway sign. Instant death? Serious injury? Irreparable damage? None of these thanks to a "breakaway" sign designed to save lives and money. Both driver and passenger escaped injury and damage to the auto was not great. A year earlier a similar mishap occurred at the same spot, before the experimental sign had replaced a conventional highway marker. The driver was killed. The incidents reflect the potential of the safety device, undergoing extensive study at Texas A&M's Transportation Institute. The research program produced a design for breakaway sign supports last year and then began experimental usage. The original sign, said State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer, was built with rigid supports, each connected to a concrete foundation. Highway crews modified the sign by installing slip joints and hinges. Greer said the slip joints parted upon impact and the sign sailed away without causing damage. The breakaway sign grew from an investigation begun in 1963 at Texas A&M. "We found out so much, it was decided to go into it further," said A. C. Taylor of Fort Worth, regional engineer for the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads. The bureau awarded the Transportation Institute a $367,000 grant to finance a "second phase" of the project. The bureau says single-vehicle collisions with fixed objects cause an estimated 40 per cent of all fatal accidents on rural roads, while damage usually exceeds $400 per accident. Essentially, Taylor explained, the breakaway sign upon impact "slides out as the support breaks loose under the sign itself. The sign flies high into the air, giving the car time to pass underneath."

Big Year for Presidential Trips

WASHINGTON (AP) -- This looks like a big year for presidential travel -- to all parts of the country and, perhaps, to points overseas. President Johnson set a record in the 1964 campaign year for travel by a chief executive. But his wanderings slumped sharply in 1965 because of his Oct. 8 surgery and because, earlier, he felt compelled to stick close to Washington at a time when Congress faced a heavy work load and he was confronted by hard choices on Viet Nam. Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic crisis also put an end to presidential hopes of visiting Europe, Latin America and had things worked out better -- the Soviet Union. Johnson didn't even get to attend the London funeral of Sir Winston Churchill, though he badly wanted to go. An "executive flu" bug put him in bed for nearly a week. But this is a new year -- and another important election year. Johnson and his White House aides again are beginning to canvass travel possibilities for the months ahead. The President feels that especially after his surgery, he needs to visit the voters in widely scattered parts of the country. Presumably an influencing factor in his own popularity rating as measured by public opinion polls. The year-end polls showed he had slumped a bit in popular estimation, though his approval rating still topped 60 per cent. Johnson attributed this to his enforced inactivity after surgery. In considering future travel, however, Johnson is not concerned solely with his personal popularity. There are several compelling reasons to undertake a new meet-the-voters effort. --Congress will be dealing with a new basketful of Johnson programs, some of which the President would like to promote at the grass roots. --Money must be raised for Democratic campaigns this fall, and Johnson is the party's biggest drawing card at $100-a-plate dinners. --The President knows that -- with rare exceptions, the party in power loses ground in off-year congressional elections. He doesn't want that to happen in November if personal campaigning might help tip the balance. Last year Johnson had hoped to finish strong in the travel department. When he got word in September that gall bladder surgery was needed, he and his staff were deeply involved in planning autumn appearances in all parts of the country -- as far west as Hawaii. All these plans had to be scrapped. And many of those who had hoped to lure Johnson to their precincts last fall now are pressing to claim rain checks in 1966. This is especially true of party fund-raisers who had to cancel out ambitious dinner plans. It is doubtful, however, that most presidential trips in early 1966 will have a direct political aura. As in the first months of 1964, Johnson seems much more likely to seek out non-political invitations -- to dedicate worthy projects or address influential nonpartisan audiences. The straightaway politicking will come later. Very much up in the air at this point are possible journeys abroad. Johnson would like to visit Western Europe, perhaps in the spring, but no decisions have been made. He wants to get to Latin America when a good opportunity arises.

Business Gains Mount

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK -- The industrial machine has gone into high gear as Congress gets set to decide which would be better for the economy: stepping on the brake or the throttle. Sharp gains in the production of industrial materials and a sizable jump in output of durable goods at year-end are reported by the Federal Reserve Board. An increase in industrial production has been expected. The size of the gain in December came as a surprise to some observers. Polls of top business executives show the big majority confident that more speed ahead is likely this year. The optimistic industrialists are aware of all the uncertainties the Viet Nam war creates and they have heard all the warnings of the dire results should the economy overheat. They know that the government could clamp on fiscal brakes or shift more production from civilian goods to military goods, whether hardware or textiles. But most businessmen still are counting on the next six months at least, and probably all of 1966, being far ahead of the smartly quick pace set in the final months of 1965. They expect only mild, if any, application of the brakes. The Federal Reserve reports its industrial production index jumped two points in December -- to a record 148.3 per cent of the 1957-59 average from the previous high point of 146.3 per cent set in November. This put the output at year-end 10.2 points above the level of a year ago. Industrial production is often seen as a sure sign of which way the economy is going, and how fast. For 1965 as a whole, the industrial production index was 8 per cent higher than for 1964 as a whole. And with the trend apparently still upward, 1966 looks bright. But industrial production is only a little more than a third of all the goods and services turned out in the United States. It doesn't reflect the contributions of the still growing service trades, construction, transportation, agriculture, finance, foreign trade, and the wholesale and retail trades. Much of this two-thirds of the economy also has been expanding of late. Cattle on Feed Up 5 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The Agriculture Department reported today cattle and calves on feed for the quality slaughter market in 39 feeding states totaled 9,963,000 head on Jan. 1, an increase of 5 per cent from a year earlier. The delayed report said the number on feed in the north-central cornbelt area was 6,088,000, up 4 per cent from a year earlier. Iowa, the leading state, was down 7 per cent, while Nebraska, the second ranking state was up 19 per cent. All other states in this region except North Dakota showed increases over a year earlier. The number on feed less than three months in the 32 major feed states totaled 6,870,000, 4 per cent above Jan. 1, 1965. The report said cattle feeders in these states intend to market 4,514,000 head during the January-March period. This is 4 per cent more than actual marketing for the same period a year earlier. The number on feed on Jan. 1 this year and last respectively, by major states, included: Missouri 300,000 and 270,000 last year; Kansas 456,000 and 407,000.

Busy Hour in Test

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) -- CBS' "National Health Test" Tuesday night invited viewers to score themselves on their general knowledge on subjects ranging from normal body temperature to prenatal care. With 34 questions, answered mostly by "true" and "false," CBS built in a considerable amount of educational material. The network earlier had taken a national sampling on the answers and found that 50 out of 100 Americans have a poor understanding of good health and hygiene practices. For instance only 97 per cent of those sampled knew their own blood types, and 31 per cent were unable to name even one of the danger signals of cancer. The program, first of a two-part series, was an extremely busy hour. Not only were we expected to answer and grade ourselves, but we were given all sorts of extra statistics and comparisons to absorb. CBS also assembled three groups across the country to take the test along with the television crowd and tossed their scores on the screen from time to time. They also took us to hospital wards, laboratories and even to a lecture on venereal disease. They dressed up some of the questions with animated cartoons--the only light note in a pretty somber 60 minutes. As in CBS' earlier "National Driving Test" and "National Citizenship Test," the program has great value if it only alerts a large number of people that they are neglecting to inform themselves on some literally vital matters. Red Skelton's CBS hour Tuesday night was, for the second time, a very special treat. His guest was the brilliant French master of pantomime, Marcel Marceau. The pair gave a two-man show much in the manner of a tap dancing team, with first one and then the other stepping forward to perform his specialties. Skelton's pantomime was much broader and funnier than Marceau's. He was amusing with his imitation of a woman driving a car, a man looking at his new-born child and sewing up his fingers, a strange but impressive bit he has done before. His most effective number also was a repeat -- an astronaut on his first walk in space, a turn that starts out as comedy and then changes suddenly into tragedy. Recommended tonight: Bob Hope Christmas Show, NBC, 9:30 p.m., special 90-minute program made from film taken in Viet Nam of Hope and his entertainment troupe; "Roger Miller Special" NBC, 9:30-10, musical program with the composer-singer with David McCallum as guest star.

QUICK QUIZ
Q--Does capital punishment exist in Great Britain?
A--Capital punishment for murder was recently abolished there, but it still remains for treason.
Q--Has the motto "In God We Trust" been used on our coins since our country's beginning?
A--No. It first appeared on some U.S. coins in 1864, disappeared and reappeared on various coins until 1955, when Congress ordered it placed on all paper money and all coins.

Nat Brown has assumed a position as manager of the Sikeston Bargain Store, which succeeds the Swartz Department Store in its room on North Main Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Welter, Judge W. H. Carter and Mrs. C. E. Felker went to Murphyboro, Ill., Sunday morning, where they were guests at a dinner served at the Logan Hotel, in honor of the 46th birth anniversary of Rex Cook of Carbondale.

Avenge themselves for defeat by Benton in the semifinals of the Vanduser tournament Christmas week, the Sikeston Bulldogs won from the same team 32 to 18 here Friday night. The Sikeston girls whipped a Benton squad 33 to 28.

Mrs. Avis Crandall Taylor announced Monday that she has bought Anne's Beauty Shoppe. Mrs. Colleen Converse Hargrave, a former employee of Graham's, will help Mrs. Taylor in her shop.

I. Hefetz of the Hefetz Pickling Co., St. Louis has been in Scott County this week, making arrangements with Clarence Cantrell of the Salcedo district to contract acreage among farmers for raising cucumbers. Cucumber raising was tried in the Salcedo district last summer as an emergency crop, after cotton crops were drowned out. The experiment was a success.

Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Sidwell received a call from their son, Capt. Bill Sidwell, that he had docked in San Francisco and would be home the latter part of the week. Capt. Sidwell has been overseas in New Guinea for about two years. He expects to receive an honorable discharge soon at Jefferson Barracks.

Mr. and Mrs. Gust W. Zacher, jr., who have been living in New York, returned here last week to make their home in Sikeston.

Invitations have been sent out for the marriage Friday of Miss Joanne Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Joel Edwards, and John Russell Felker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Felker. The wedding will take place in the Christian Church here.

Most of us would rather risk catastrophe than read the directions.

THE PRAYER

For Today From The Upper Room

If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. (Luke 9:23)

PRAYER: Dear God, help us to be brave as the struggle for righteousness challenges us. Move us to take up our cross and cheerfully bear the trials, that may go with it. Bless us as we enter the fellowship of the comrades of the cross. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Missouri Press Report

by Edward V. Long

President Johnson made clear U.S. determination to fulfill our commitments both in Viet Nam and at home, when he delivered the State of the Union message to Congress.

At a vital moment in our national history, the President spoke firmly and with determination.

In Viet Nam, we intend to stand firm against communist aggression until that aggression has stopped. We must work for a peace that will secure for the Vietnamese people their right to independence.

At the same time, we have a commitment to build a better, stronger America. A sure that all Missourians welcome the President's recommendation that we continue with the great programs Congress began last year. This is certainly no time to pause in our efforts to keep America moving forward.

While I do not agree with all of the President's legislative recommendations, I am sure Congress will give them all close attention.

Certainly look forward to an interesting, hard-working session.

The 1965 crop season in Missouri set some new records, according to the latest report. In spite of damaging floods in July and September, Missouri farmers produced record yields of corn, grain sorghums, and hay.

The total value of the 1965 crop in Missouri is estimated at $718,988,000--up 15.4 percent since 1964. Missourians harvested crops from 11.9 million acres last year.

Missouri's corn production in 1965 was a record 223,488,000 bushels--up 43 percent since 1964.

Soybean production in Missouri went over the 80 million bushel mark last year--up 22 million bushels from 1964. Missouri soybean farmers averaged 26 bushels per acre.

A team of U.S. Atomic Energy Commission experts will be touring Missouri high schools in the next two months demonstrating the latest developments in the peaceful use of the atom.

The team will visit 54 junior and senior high schools in communities all over our state.

The A.E.C. team uses animated exhibits and scientific equipment to display such things as particle accelerators, fission reactors, fusion, and radio-isotopes.

Meanwhile the Atomic Energy Commission predicts that more and more private industries will be able to make more use of the atom in the next few years. Research is already discovering new ways to use the atom in sterilizing medical supplies, preserving food, and providing electricity. Peaceful uses for the atom give us hope for a better world.

Vicious Circle. The communists are always doing things they shouldn't do so that others have to make concessions they shouldn't make to get them to stop. Then their opponents feel happy that the emergency is over--when actually there never should have been an emergency.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

119 Maplewood Drive
Sikeston, Missouri
January 18, 1965

C. L. Blanton Jr., editor
Daily Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Missouri

Dear Mr. Blanton;

As a rule, Sikeston teenagers are a congenial group. We don't have gang wars or make human chains across the highway. We don't burn pep property of rival schools at football games or put paint on the front of rival schools. When the S.H.S. administration makes a rule it is usually for the good of the students so we try to follow it. Yet, a rule has been made that many of us feel is unfair to the students. Unless a student wears his or her hair at a certain length, he or she will be expelled. The officials say that long hair is harmful to the students learning ability. Being expelled from school for a time does more harm.

The student is being denied the education guaranteed him by the constitution. How can a high school administrator, who is actually paid by the people, forbid students to do something the students' parents obviously permit? Is this only a free country after you are 21?

Long hair is a fad and should be treated as such. It will do no permanent damage just as fads of the past have done none. Were our parents hurt by flapper dresses and raccoon coats? No! This time the students of S.H.S. speak -- long live long hair!

Yours truly,
Kay Walton

Debbie Etienne Wins Award

LILBOURN -- Debbie Etienne, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Etienne, was named winner of the high school's homemaker of tomorrow award. She scored highest among senior girls on an examination covering such areas as family relationships, spiritual and moral values, child development and care, health and safety, utilization and conservation of human resources, and money management.

Debbie will receive a pin on commencement night in May.

The moment we indulge our affections, the earth is metamorphosed.

Seek Escapee For Robbery

MAYFIELD, Ky., AP -- James Washington Wilson, 36, of Kansas City, Mo., is sought on a federal charge that he robbed the bank of Wingo of more than $9,100.

U. S. Commissioner Herbert T. Melton Jr., of Paducah, issued a warrant for Wilson, described as an escapee from a jail at Cape Girardeau, Mo. The Wingo bank was robbed Saturday. Authorities said the bandit pulled a gun on cashier Wendell H. Oliver and demanded money. Officers added the robber had been in the bank several times, claiming he was looking for a resident who had given him a bad check.

Bank employees identified Wilson from FBI records.

For Today From
The Upper Room

If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. (Luke 9:23)

PRAYER: Dear God, help us to be brave as the struggle for righteousness challenges us.
Move us to take up our cross and cheerfully bear the trials, that may go with it. Bless us as we enter the fellowship of the comrades of the cross. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Missouri Press Report

by Edward V. Long

President Johnson made clear U.S. determination to fulfill our commitments both in Viet Nam and at home, when he delivered the State of the Union message to Congress.

At a vital moment in our national history, the President spoke firmly and with determination.

In Viet Nam, we intend to stand firm against communist aggression until that aggression has stopped. We must work for a peace that will secure for the Vietnamese people their right to independence.

At the same time, we have a commitment to build a better, stronger America. Am sure that all Missourians welcome the President's recommendation that we continue with the great programs Congress began last year. This is certainly no time to pause in our efforts to keep America moving forward.

While I do not agree with all of the President's legislative recommendations, I am sure Congress will give them all close attention.

Certainly look forward to an interesting, hard-working session.

The 1965 crop season in Missouri set some new records,
according to the latest report.

In spite of damaging floods in July and September, Missouri farmers produced record yields of corn, grain sorghums, and hay.

The total value of the 1965 crop in Missouri is estimated at $718,988,000--up 15.4 percent since 1964. Missourians harvested crops from 11.9 million acres last year.

Missouri's corn production in 1965 was a record 223,488,000 bushels--up 43 percent since 1964.

Soybean production in Missouri went over the 80 million bushel mark last year-- up 22 million bushels from 1964.
Missouri soybean farmers averaged 26 bushels per acre.

A team of U.S. Atomic Energy Commission experts will be touring Missouri high schools in the next two months demonstrating the latest developments in the peaceful use of the atom.

The team will visit 54 junior and senior high schools in communities all over our state.

The A.E.C. team uses animated exhibits and scientific equipment to display such things as particle accelerators, fission, reactors, fusion, and radio-isotopes.

Meanwhile the Atomic Energy Commission predicts that more and more private industries will be able to make more use of the atom in the next few years.
Research is already discovering new ways to use the atom in sterilizing medical supplies, preserving food, and providing electricity. Peaceful uses for the atom give us hope for a better world.

Vicious Circle. The communists are always doing things they shouldn't do so that others have to make concessions they shouldn't make to get them to stop. Then their opponents feel happy that the emergency is over--when actually there never should have been an emergency.

C. L. Blanton Jr., editor
Daily Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Missouri

Dear Mr. Blanton;

As a rule, Sikeston teenagers are a congenial group. We don't have gang wars or make human chains across the highway. We don't burn pep property of rival schools at football games or put paint on the front of rival schools. When the S.H.S.

administration makes a rule it is usually for the good of the students so we try to follow it. Yet, a rule has been made that many of us feel is unfair to the students. Unless a student wears his or her hair at a certain length, he or she will be expelled. The officials say that long hair is harmful to the students learning ability.
Being expelled from school for a time does more harm.
The student is being denied the education guaranteed him by the constitution. How can a high school administrator, who is actually paid by the people, forbid students to do something the students' parents obviously permit? Is this only a free country after you are 21?

Long hair is a fad and should be treated as such. It will do no permanent damage just as fads of the past have done none.
Were our parents hurt by flapper dresses and raccoon coats?
No! This time the students of S.H.S. speak -- long live long hair!

Yours truly,
Kay Walton

Debbie Etienne Wins Award

LILBOURN -- Debbie Etienne,
17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Leonard Etienne, was named winner of the high school's homemaker of tomorrow award.
She scored highest among senior girls on an examination covering such areas as family relationships, spiritual and moral values, child development and care, health and safety, utilization and conservation of human resources, and money management.

Debbie will receive a pin on commencement night in May.

MAYFIELD, Ky., AP --
James Washington Wilson, 36, of Kansas City, Mo., is sought on a federal charge that he robbed the bank of Wingo of more than $9,100.

U. S. Commissioner Herbert T. Melton Jr., of Paducah, issued a warrant for Wilson, described as an escapee from a jail at Cape Girardeau, Mo.

The Wingo bank was robbed Saturday. Authorities said the bandit pulled a gun on cashier Wendell H. Oliver and demanded money. Officers added the robber had been in the bank several times, claiming he was looking for a resident who had given him a bad check. "A husband who gives his wife
